Parades Mark Fifth Anniversary of Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congo celebrated its fifth birthday today with politicians crowding and the military marching. But the country's economy still is sickly.

Potentially it is one of Africa's richest countries, rich in industrial diamonds, copper, cobalt, uranium and other minerals. It has one of the world's great potentials for hydroelectric power, lush land and plentiful manpower.

But its economy is stagnant. One reason is the lack of security. Rebellion has racked the vast central African territory since its first week of freedom in 1960.

UN Troops

There was the army mutiny and the subsequent entry of United Nations troops.

There were the Katanga and Kasai secession movements.

There has been fighting in Kwilu Province near Leopoldville, in Kivu to the east, and most recently the massive, Communist-aided rebellion that still smolders in the north.

These rebellions helped create the Congo's second great economic problem — overspending. The military takes an enormous part of the budget. Areas

Sued Motorist Argues Stop Sign He Jumped Was Illegal

Mort Meanswell was driving his dump truck along an arterial highway and had just come to an intersection with a side road, when a car driven by Sam Speedshift shot through the stop sign and hit the side of the truck.

Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Mort sued Sam for the damage to his truck.

"He ran a stop sign," Mort claimed. "I was on the arterial highway and he was driving on the side road. How can there be any question about this case? He ran the stop sign and hit me."

"That was an illegal stop sign," Sam replied. "The township put it up, and it is on a state highway. Only the state has the right to put stop signs on state highways. I wasn't at fault, the stop sign was."

Can Sam be found negligent for violating an unauthorized stop sign?

District Hires Superintendent In Little Chute

Leo Bronkalla to Provide Lead for Building High School

LITTLE CHUTE—The Little Chute Board of Education has announced the signing of Leo Bronkalla as superintendent of schools, replacing George Barber who resigned earlier this year.

Bronkalla formerly held similar posts in Lowell-Reeseville Union School and Wrightstown Joint School District No. 1, the latter for two and one-half years. He signed a three-year contract at Little Chute and will assume the responsibility of helping the district construct its first public high school.

Under his guidance, a new high school at Wrightstown was dedicated last fall. He was instrumental in the reorganization of that district which led to the construction of the high school and consolidation of the grade school.

Education History

The new superintendent received his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State University, Whitewater, in 1932, and his master's degree in administration from the University of Colorado in 1960. He taught milk and reverse the rapid drop eight years in the Albany, in per capita consumption of Jefferson and Marshfield school dairy products.

Consumption Down

"The latest figures available show that per capita consumption of nearly all the major dairy products is going down at a fairly rapid rate," Nelson said.

"This downward trend signals the new superintendent will plenty of trouble for the dairy assume duties as superintendent industry in the years ahead."

The Little Chute school system immediately to assist in only on milk sold for manufacture and construction of tiring uses. Nelson said the bill the new school, but will also lower the price of butter work with the Wrightstown and all other manufactured board until he can be relieved of dairy foods containing butterfat, his responsibilities there.

Nelson Backs Price Cut

Subsidize Farmers For Reduced Dairy Product Income

WASHINGTON—Sen. Gaylord Nelson urged the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee Tuesday to recommend his bill to cut retail prices of butter and other dairy products by up to 20 cents a pound through payments to farmers or dairy plants.

The proposal also would give the Secretary of Agriculture more discretion in raising dairy price support levels above the present minimum of 75 per cent.

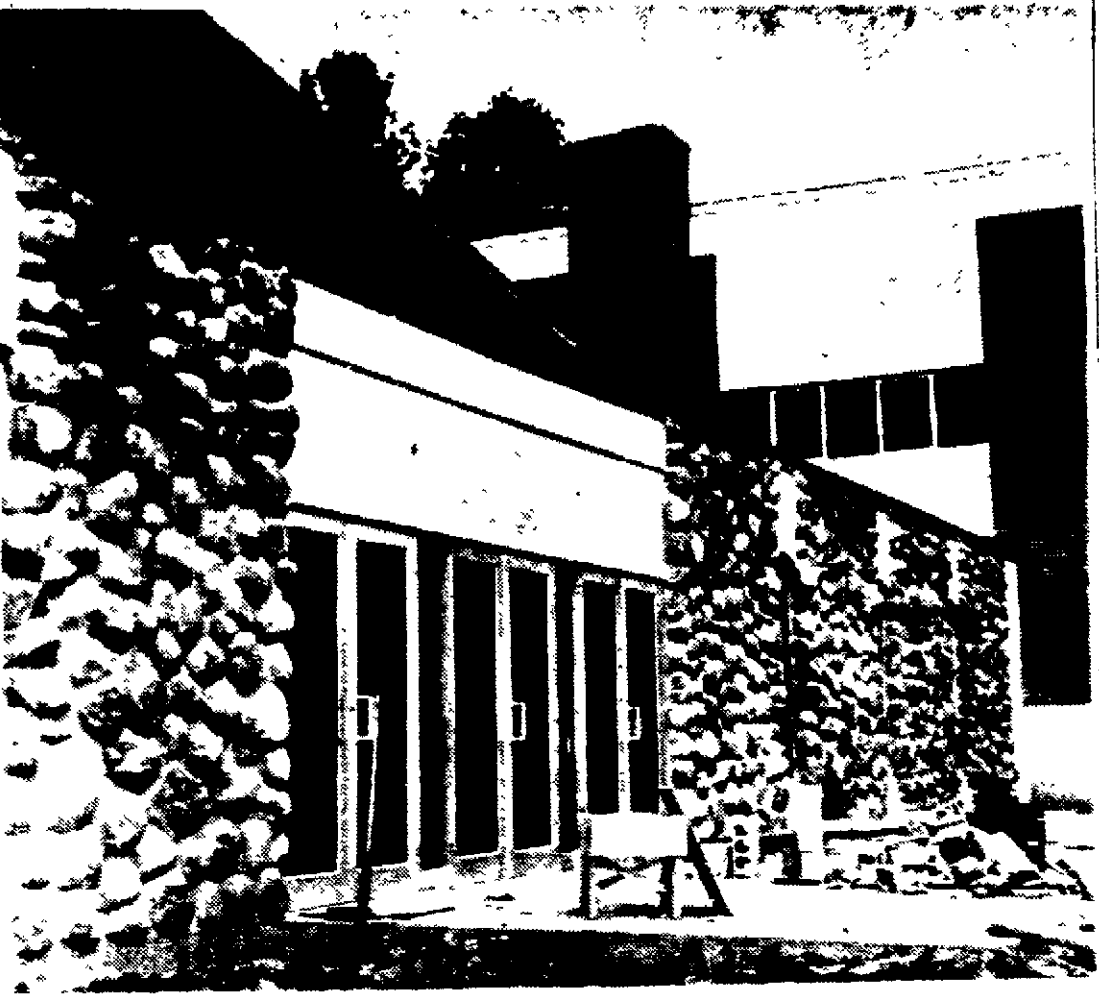

Nelson told the Committee that a dairy master's degree in administration from the University of Colorado in 1960. He taught milk and reverse the rapid drop eight years in the Albany, in per capita consumption of Jefferson and Marshfield school dairy products.

Kimberly School Board Seeks Solution for Student Increase

200 Additional Pupils Expected For 1966-67 Term in District

KIMBERLY — Three solutions to the problem of 200 additional students in the 1966-67 school year were aired Monday night.

No solution was found at Monday's meeting, but three suggestions by Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, were discussed and plans made for additional special meetings and discussions.

Possible Solutions

The first proposal was to build a new school on a site recently purchased in the Kuborn plat area west of the railway tracks. This was deemed impractical, since about 100 of the second graders live east of the tracks and would be traveling long distances to a school in the Kuborn area.

This property was purchased in long range planning to provide an elementary school when present school population of the area warrants.

Another proposal was to construct a new junior high school on a site south of the existing high school. The present junior high could then be remodeled into an elementary building. This would make possible the building of a central kitchen, storage and maintenance areas, lunch room and administrative offices in the present junior high building.

Complete Floor

The third proposal was to complete the second floor of the senior high school and add an industrial arts and music area. Originally scheduled for 1968 or 1969, this would permit use of the second floor of the high school for elementary purposes until 1968 and would provide two more years to seek other solutions.

By this time changes might Turn to Page 3, Col. 1

Air Wisconsin Delays Service Until Aug. 9

For the third time, officials of Air Wisconsin have set back a scheduled beginning of service. The latest proposed starting date, according to officials of the third-level airline which has an office in Appleton, is Aug. 9.

An earlier announcement by Karl Baldwin, president of the organization, had set the start of service by the nine-passenger "Dove" aircraft for July 19.

Air Wisconsin's delay is expected to again set back plans for the dedication of the new Outagamie County Airport — perhaps to Aug. 7 or 14.

Bellaire Park Plans To be Aired Tonight

Three Development Proposals Set to be Unveiled at Special Meeting of Appleton Board

Three plans for developing Bellaire Park on Appleton's park road construction to a near northeast side will be referred to a special meeting of the park board in the city hall today.

The plans have been prepared by a landscape and park architect with the firm of Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis, Mo.

William Wachtendonk, board president, said the meeting would be public. He said there would be a need to get opinions on the plans from residents of all parts of the city.

"This will be developed as a community park — not for just one neighborhood," Wachtendonk said. He said the board anticipated considerable pressure from residents overlooking the present Bellaire Park ravine.

Best Advice

He pointed out that services of the outside consultant were obtained to "get the best professional advice available on how the Bellaire area should be developed."

When the board had a road constructed through the park last year some residents in that area objected. They were in-

Appleton Solon Attacks Method of Floating Bond Issues

MADISON — The strongest attack thus far heard in legislative halls on the state's dummy corporation method of floating big bond issues came Tuesday from the youthful chairman of the assembly Republican caucus, but there was no sign that the other leaders of the legislature are seriously interested in the question.

"You know and I know that this method of going into debt in the face of a constitutional prohibition against debt is an outright fraud," Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, Appleton, challenged the assembly judiciary committee at a hearing.

Public Discussion

The committee had scheduled for public discussion Froehlich's proposal for a constitutional amendment that would legalize regular state bond issues within stated limits, and that would also abolish the quasi-public corporation device invented many years ago to circumvent the constitutional rule against debt. The absence of supporting witnesses in significant number, or any other response from legislators, indicated that there is probably only a scant chance for approval of the proposal.

Froehlich got the support of several taxpayer club representatives who picked up his theme about the need for a park for unlimited time in "controlled state debt." One of them was John Nelson of Appleton, an executive of an Appleton paper manufacturing company.

Nelson complained that the people of the state who are liable for principal and interest payments on a rising state indebtedness are now indifferently informed about the fact.

Debt Situation

"Bring the debt situation into the open," he asked.

The state now has about $300 million in long-term debt, representing mostly bonds for institutional construction since World War II. Under the constitutional amendment that total would be absorbed into a new total debt limit of around $600 million according to a formula fixed to total tax valuation within the state, as is now the rule for local government bonding.

It was estimated that by the end of this decade the debt limit would rise to about $750 million.

The law would be changed to permit the legislature to authorize bonds up to two and one half per cent of the valuation of the state. The legislature could raise that to five per cent, by a two-thirds vote, if ratified also in a popular referendum.

Such an amendment must be approved by two successive legislatures, and ratified in a referendum.

Motorists with permits can park for unlimited time in certain designated areas.

Legislators Okay High Cliff Shelter

Resolution Allows $100,000; Branch Banking Bill Defeated

MADISON (AP) — The Assembly concurred 94-1 Tuesday in a Senate resolution that would approve $100,000 for building an enclosed shelter at High Cliff State Park.

The measure, which now heads for the governor's desk, had been pushed through the Senate earlier in the day.

Meanwhile, supporters of a bill to establish branch banking in Wisconsin held only lingering hope that it would be passed by the Assembly this session.

The Badger State Banking Association, the prime organizer of support for the proposal, told its Assembly sponsors Tuesday to bring the bill up for final action if it could pass. The measure got the necessary two-thirds majority to be debated, but the 63-32 vote fell far short of the number needed for passage.

Major Necessary

The bill, which is required by the Constitution to have a two-thirds majority for passage, provides that banks may set up branches in their own town, city or village as long as they are not within one mile of any other home office bank.

St. Norbert Alumni Reach Mid-Point in Keefe Center Drive

WEST DE PERE — St. Norbert College alumni have reached the half-way point after the first phase of their drive to raise $300,000 for the Anselm Keefe Botany Center portion of the College's $2.8 million new science building.

Herb Hoeft, general chairman for the alumni drive, reports that more than $150,000 has been pledged as the result of personal contacts and operation telephone.

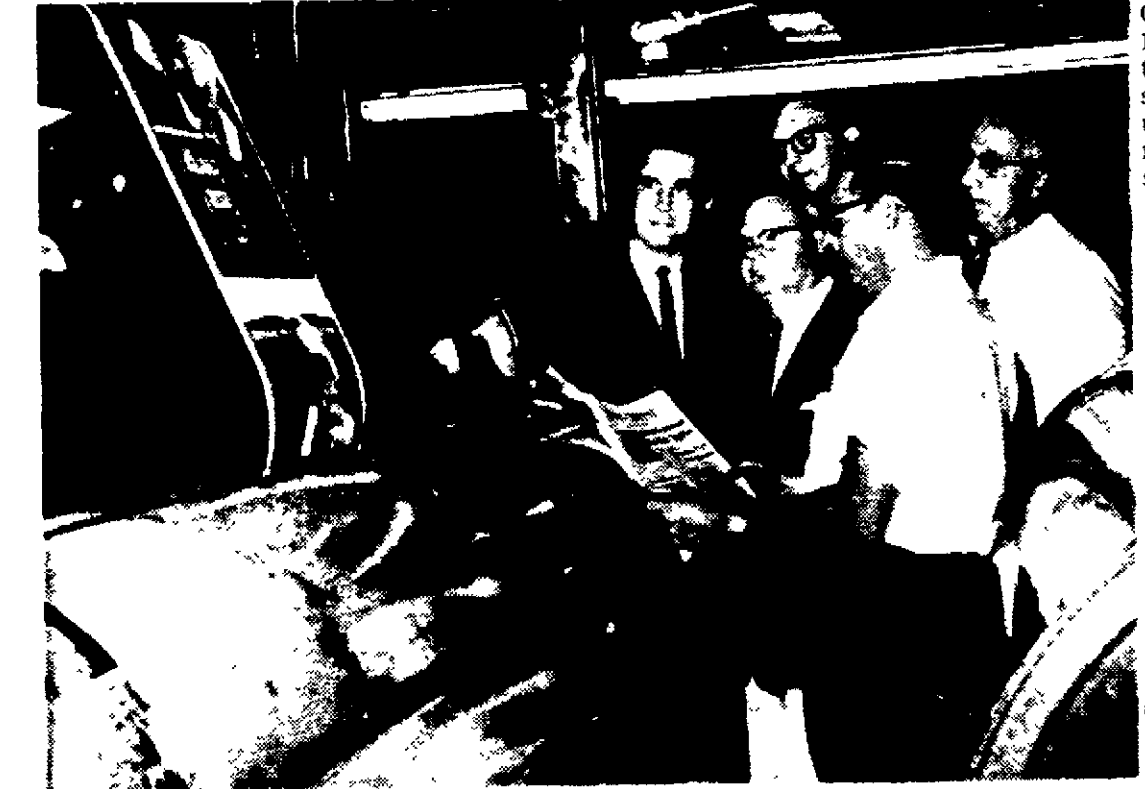

During the second phase of the campaign, separate drives will be conducted in areas of heavy St. Norbert alumni concentration such as Fox Cities, Milwaukee and Chicago. Next fall teams of alumni volunteers will again work on operation telephone, a project by which other alumni from all across the United States are called from the West De Pere campus.

Leo Bronkalla to Provide Lead for Building High School

LITTLE CHUTE—The Little Chute Board of Education has announced the signing of Leo Bronkalla as superintendent of schools, replacing George Barber who resigned earlier this year. He was instrumental in the reorganization of that district which led to the construction of the high school and consolidation of the grade school. Nelson Backs Price Cut

Subsidize Farmers For Reduced Dairy Product Income

WASHINGTON—Sen. Gaylord Nelson urged the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee Tuesday to recommend his bill to cut retail prices of butter and other dairy products by up to 20 cents a pound through payments to farmers or dairy plants. The proposal also would give the Secretary of Agriculture more discretion in raising dairy price support levels above the present minimum of 75 per cent. Nelson told the Committee that Congress should adopt a dairy program that would permit increases in the support price of Colorado in 1960. He taught milk and reverse the rapid drop eight years in the Albany, Jefferson and Marshfield school dairy products. Kimberly School Board Seeks Solution for Student Increase

200 Additional Pupils Expected For 1966-67 Term in District

KIMBERLY — Three solutions to the problem of 200 additional students in the 1966-67 school year were aired Monday night. No solution was found at Monday's meeting, but three suggestions by Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, were discussed and plans made for additional special meetings and discussions. Possible Solutions The first proposal was to build a new school on a site recently purchased in the Kuborn plat area west of the railway tracks. This was deemed impractical, since about 160 of the second graders live east of the tracks and would be traveling long distances to a school in the Kuborn area. This property was purchased in long range planning to provide an elementary school when present school population of the area warrants. Another proposal was to construct a new junior high school on a site south of the existing high school. The present junior high could then be remodeled into an elementary building. This would make possible the building of a central kitchen, storage and maintenance areas, lunch room and administrative offices in the present junior high building. Complete Floor The third proposal was to complete the second floor of the senior high school and add an industrial arts and music area. Originally scheduled for 1968 or 1969, this would permit use of the second floor of the high school for elementary purposes until 1968 and would provide two more years to seek other solutions. By this time changes might

Air Wisconsin Delays Service Until Aug. 9

For the third time, officials of Air Wisconsin have set back a scheduled beginning of service. The latest proposed starting date, according to officials of the third-level airline which has an office in Appleton, is Aug. 9. An earlier announcement by Karl Baldwin, president of the organization, had set the start of service by the nine-passenger "Dove" aircraft for July 19. Air Wisconsin's delay is expected to again set back plans for the dedication of the new Outagamie County Airport — perhaps to Aug. 7 or 14.

Water Service in Little Chute to Be Interrupted

LITTLE CHUTE—The village water department will be changing two shut off valves Thursday morning resulting in interruption of water service from 5 to 10 a.m., according to Gerald Loey, village clerk. Areas to be without water include S. Wilson Street from Main Street to Canal Street and E. Lincoln Avenue and Park Avenue from S. Wilson to Taylor Streets. Property owners are advised to set aside sufficient water Wednesday night to serve needs Thursday morning.

Bellaire Park Plans To be Aired Tonight

Three Development Proposals Set to be Unveiled at Special Meeting of Appleton Board

Three plans for developing Bellaire Park on Appleton's park road construction to a near northeast side will be referred to a special meeting of the park board in the city hall today. Ald. John F. Ayers 12th in council chambers at 7:30 p.m. whose ward the park is located, has been at odds with the park board for more than a year by a landscape and park over the road relocation architect with the firm of Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis, Mo. William Wachtendonk, board president, said the meeting would be public. He said there was a need to get opinions on the plans from residents of all parts of the city. "This will be developed as a community park — not just for one neighborhood," Wachtendonk said. He said the board anticipated considerable pressure from residents overlooking the present Bellaire Park ravine.

Best Advice He pointed out that services of the outside consultant were obtained to "get the best professional advice available on how the Bellaire area should be developed." When the board had a road constructed through the park last year some residents in that area objected. They were invited to attend tonight's meeting and express their opinions on the proposed plans for the park's development. Ayers indicated he wants the city to proceed with the proper development of the park which covers close to 30 acres, including a large tract north of the Pacific Street bridge. Money for developing the Bellaire area is in the Peabody trust which has been in the hands of the park board for years. The park project will be carried out with no expense to the city.

Public Discussion The committee had scheduled for public discussion Froehlich's proposal for a constitutional amendment that would legalize regular state bond issues within stated limits, and that would also abolish the quasi-public corporation device invented many years ago to circumvent the constitutional rule against debt. The absence of supporting witnesses in significant number, or any other response from legislators, indicated that there is probably only a scant chance for approval of the proposal. Froehlich got the support of several taxpayer club representatives who picked up his theme about the need for a "controlled state debt." One of them was John Nelson of Appleton, an executive of an Appleton paper manufacturing company. Nelson complained that the people of the state who are liable for principal and interest payments on a rising state indebtedness are now indifferently informed about the fact.

Debt Situation "Bring the debt situation into the open," he asked. The state now has about $300 million in long-term debt, representing mostly bonds for institutional construction since World War II. Under the constitutional amendment that total would be absorbed into a new total debt limit of around $600 million according to a formula fixed to total tax valuation within the state, as is now the rule for local government bonding. It was estimated that by the end of this decade the debt limit would rise to about $750 million. The law would be changed to permit the legislature to authorize bonds up to two and one-half per cent of the valuation of the state. The legislature could raise that to five per cent, by a two-thirds vote, if ratified also in a popular referendum. Such an amendment must be approved by two successive legislatures, and ratified in a referendum.

St. Norbert Alumni Reach Mid-Point in Keefe Center Drive

WEST DE PERE — St. Norbert College alumni have reached the half-way point after the first phase of their drive to raise $300,000 for the Anselm Keefe Center portion of the College's $2.8 million new science building. Herb Hoeft, general chairman for the alumni drive, reports that more than $150,000 has been pledged as the result of personal contacts and operation telephone. During the second phase of the campaign, separate drives will be conducted in areas of heavy St. Norbert alumni concentration such as Fox Cities, Milwaukee and Chicago. Next fall teams of alumni volunteers will again work on operation telephone, a project by which other alumni from all across the United States are called from the West De Pere campus.

Called 'Gimmicks' The main object to the bill, Assemblyman Earl McEsey, R-Fond du Lac, ridiculed the electronic machines as "gimmicks" that "threaten the sanctity and secrecy of the ballot." "Punching a hole in a paper card is voting electronically," McEsey scoffed. "They say that's progress and modernizing." The bill was not sent immediately to the Senate, which would give it a chance to be revived by a motion to reconsider. The Assembly gave surprisingly strong backing to a bill providing a new concept in state aids to education. On a 79-18 vote, a proposal appropriating up to $2.4 million for grants for students to attend private colleges in Wisconsin was approved. Amendment Defeated Before passage, an amendment that would have extended the grants to Wisconsin students attending a private college out of state was defeated 78-19. The amount of the grant would be based on the income of the student and his parents, but no one could receive more than $250 a semester. A state commission for higher educational aids would be created to administer the grants. Another bill passed by both houses Tuesday would allow welfare recipients to deduct from their earnings a share of the money received from federal anti-poverty projects.

Appleton Taxi Firm Requests PSC Permit To Serve New Airport

Appleton Yellow Cab Co. has applied to the Public Service Commission (PSC) for an amendment to its certificate which would allow the firm to service the new Outagamie County Airport in Town of Greenville.

Lloyd Doerfler, president of the firm, said Yellow Cab will provide the same service at the new airport which it did at the old field in Town of Grand Chute.

All flights will be serviced, he said, including those of Air Wisconsin, once the new carrier gets started. Service is limited to passengers who have a prior or subsequent movement by air from or to the Outagamie County Airport, and including their baggage and parcels.

The hearing on the amendment will be July 20 in the Outagamie County Courthouse.

Lower Rate for Electric Heat

Kimberly School Scheduled to Save $4,700 Each Year

A new electric rate for heating stores, offices and schools has been announced by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. The new rate has been approved by the Public Service Commission (PSC) and becomes effective Thursday.

According to J. H. McLean, power company assistant vice president, the new rate makes electric heating of many commercial and government buildings economically competitive with conventional heating.

"In fact, where heating can be integrated with lighting in larger buildings we believe they can be heated and cooled electrically at a lower cost than with any other fuel," McLean said.

Kimberly High
"Though the new rate applies to only a limited number of buildings now, we believe it will have a significant influence on the design of future buildings," he said. The rate reduction will save present all-electric customers a total of about $6,500 per year. The largest individual savings will go to the all-electric Kimberly High School where the annual electric cost will be cut approximately $4,700," McLean said.

Others to benefit from the new rate are the south side Park 'N Market, First National Bank, Sherwood State Bank, and the Arnold Wagner Bank near Shawano. Other buildings now under construction also will benefit from the rate reduction, he said.

"We have gained sufficient experience with electric heating to learn that it is completely practical in many buildings in which heretofore electric heating was not even considered. The new rate makes it necessary for cost-conscious owners planning such buildings to give full consideration to electric heating. To qualify for the new rate, the building must use electricity for both space heating and water heating. In addition, all other uses of energy such as cooking and air conditioning must be electric," McLean explained.

Heirs Get Shares Of $369,019 Appleton Estate

Distribution of the estate left by Mrs. Emma Jacquot, who died Aug. 23, 1964 at age 87, was made in Outagamie County Court Branch 1. She was the widow of John Jacquot, an officer of the Citizen's National Bank once located at 100-104 W. College Ave. The final tabulation for distribution, after costs of administration, was $369,019. The estate had been valued at $439,676, mostly in stocks and securities.

Named among the heirs were the Episcopal Church, $37,445; St. Elizabeth Hospital, and Appleton Memorial Hospital which received equal shares of $18,722 each.

Also receiving shares were Mrs. Emma Jacquot, $52,035, and William Zuehlke, $58,471, both of Appleton; Harold Zuehlke, Milwaukee, and Susan Larson, the burial expenses, even when Sioux City, Iowa; Richard Zuehlke, and Louis Benjamin, both of Appleton, all of whom received equal shares of $29,235. Mrs. Jacquot's home at 4-727 E. College Ave. was left to John Jacquot.

Branch Banking Measure Passes

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Assembly passed a bill today to establish branch banking in Wisconsin. The 69-31 vote was two more than the required two-thirds majority.

The action was taken without debate after the Assembly voted 69-30 to reconsider the proposal.

Ogdensburg Man Guilty Of Forgery

One-Year Sentence Suspended Pending Military Charges

WAUPACA — James Peterson, 29, route 1, Ogdensburg, pleaded guilty to three counts of forgery and was sentenced to one year in the state reformatory in Green Bay when he appeared Tuesday in Waupaca County Court.

However, the sentence was stayed and he was to be turned over to military authorities with whom he also faces charges. Peterson, a soldier stationed at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., admitted forging three checks totaling $171. The checks written on Waupaca banks were cashed between June 6 and 14 while Peterson was home on weekend passes. He was arrested June 19 and after being arraigned in Municipal Justice Court June 21 was held in the county jail in lieu of a $1,000 bond.

Judge Herbert Bunde, who is presiding in the absence of Judge Wendell McHenry, sentenced Peterson to one year on each of the three counts which are to run concurrently. He then stayed the sentence until the outcome of his military charges. If he is released from military service, Bunde said Peterson will be returned to serve his sentence.

Fire Run

Appleton firemen were called to a woods at Pershing and by Outagamie County police on Tuesday to extinguish a fire in a tree. Authorities said the fire may have been started by children playing with matches.

Worcester Center To Sponsor Four Summer Exhibits

Four exhibits will be on view this summer at the Worcester Art Center at Lawrence University, the first vacation-time schedule in its history.

The first three shows will display the entire Lawrence and Downer print collection, while the fourth will show the student work done during the summer. Exhibit hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to noon. The first group of prints will be up until July 2, the second group from July 6-16 and the third from July 19-30. The student show will be seen from Aug. 2-13.

There is great variety in processes, styles and periods in the prints, which range from the 15th century to the present. Many of the prints in the Lawrence collection were gifts from the Carnegie Foundation.

Woman Pays Fine of $200

Elizabeth Dufield, Shiocton, Admits To Tippy Driving

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Dufield, 34, route 2, Shiocton, was fined $200 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday where she pleaded guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol. She had been arrested June 23 on a State 54 June 28.

Mrs. Dufield tested .23 on a breathalyzer examination. A .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Fire Destroys Embarrass Garage Equipment Lost; Origin Unknown

EMBARRASS—Fire of undetermined origin swept through the body shop of Richard Ziereis about 3:15 p.m. Monday and destroyed the entire contents including equipment. The Embarrass Volunteer Fire Department answered the call.

The structure measures 30 by 30 feet and is of cement block construction. Ziereis had been in his home and when returning out of control and the equipment could not be saved. One of the firemen reported hearing paint cans and gas exploding. The total amount of the loss had not been estimated.

Rudy Haase Represents Postal Supervisors

Rudy W. Haase of Appleton is in Washington today representing supervisors of the Minneapolis Postal Region in a move to work out salary adjustments.

More than 500 members of the National Association of Postal Supervisors and auxiliary are making a concentrated effort to convince Congress of inequities which they say exist in pay schedules for postal supervisors. Although a 1962 law provides that postal salaries at all levels shall be comparable with salaries in private industries, the law of 1964 did not provide the same measure of comparability for supervisors as that did for other employees. The supervisors contend a proposed law would correct the inequities.

Family of Deceased Urged To Contact Social Security

A major type of protection provided through social security if someone in your family dies is protection against the loss of family income because of the death of the family breadwinner. A lump-sum death payment can usually be made to a widow or the person who pays the burial expenses, even when there are no survivors eligible for monthly payments.

Widows and children of recently deceased workers come to the Appleton social security office daily to find out if they are entitled to monthly social security survivors payments. $783.

Some people do not inquire about their entitlement, however, and lose — or stand to lose — large amounts of money.

Because it wants to pay all benefits that are due, the Social Security Administration has for many years urged people to check with a social security office any time a death in the family occurs. Such inquiry will help prevent misunderstanding about the requirements for monthly survivors payments. It will help prevent loss of benefits to eligible people who assume they cannot get benefits.

Records Kept
Almost every working person has had earnings covered by the Social Security Act, and the record of those earnings is especially important to the families of workers who die. That record will usually show whether the person worked long enough and earned enough to permit payment of benefits. It will also be used by the Social Security Administration to calculate the amount of the monthly benefits payable to a worker's widow and children.

Nine out of 10 young children and their mothers can count on these survivors benefits to help keep the family together if the breadwinner dies. The average benefit paid to widowed mothers with two children has been about $193 a month. It can be as high as $254 a month. The lowest benefit payment for widows and children is $80 a month.

Northside Kiwanis Park
'Tot-Lot' Experiment
Gets New Equipment

Appleton's latest population explosion is centering on Northside Kiwanis Park. It began Monday when the park department completed assembling new tot-lot equipment.

Since then hundreds of "small fry" have been crawling, running and frolicking about the 7.8 acres of parkland first acquired by the city in 1959.

The tot-lot and its play equipment for various age groups is unique to Appleton. William Wachtendonk, park board president, said the lot and its novel equipment was already a successful experiment as far as the board is concerned.

The entire tot-lot was planned for different types of playground equipment for smaller children in three age groups, according to Park Supt. Harold Jerke.

Included in the attractions are such play novelties as Rodeo Rocky, Trail Blazer slides, steam engine climber, the spider climber, captain's deck, loop o' ball, ponies on springs, Jack and Jill playhouse, swing sets with chairs, seats and ponies—and others.

Already installed

The equipment is bright colored with red and white peppermint stripe the most predominant.

An estimated $3,000 in playground equipment has been installed, and more is to be added.

Picking up the tab for the equipment is the Northside Kiwanis Club which decided more than a year ago to make an annual contribution toward refurbishing the park.

The club took its action after Mayor Clarence Mitchell suggested local civic clubs and service organizations help provide park facilities as a public service project. He noted this was being done in other cities across the nation.

Named After Club

As a result, the Northside Kiwanis Club presented the park board with checks in excess of $2,000 ($1,000 a year is the goal) and the park, in turn, was named after the civic group.

The recreation department added another boost to the park arrangement, assigning playground leaders on a Monday through Friday basis from 9:30 a.m. to noon, 1 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 8 p.m. schedule.

City officials have received calls from parents praising the park programs.

Some curious parents have also contacted the park department to get the names of the varied playground facilities.

Opening of the tot-lot was delayed a few weeks when the manufacturer failed to send all the needed parts.

Former Lawrence Teacher
Granted Honorary Degree

Dr. Howard Troyer, dean of Ward of Grub Street published Cornell College, Iowa, and one-time Lawrence University English professor, was granted an honorary degree from his undergraduate alma mater, Earlham College, in its recent commencement.

After graduating from Earlham, Troyer obtained his masters and doctorate from the University of Wisconsin, and did further study at Columbia University and the British Museum. He was on the Lawrence faculty from 1931 to 1957.

Troyer held a number of post-doctoral fellowships that resulted directly either in books or detailed analyses.

A semester's research at the University of Texas and eastern libraries led to a book "Ned in 1946 by the Harvard University Press. Additional research was done at the British Museum and the Bodleian Library at Oxford.

Folk Tales Book

A grant in midwestern studies at the Newberry Library, Chicago, resulted in a book of folk tales, "The Salt and the Savor" which won a special citation from the Friends of American Writers in 1960.

An industry-sponsored project culminated in "The Four-Wheel Drive Story" brought out by McGraw Hill in 1954.

He also held a Ford Foundation Fellowship for the advancement of teaching, in which he studied the humanities programs of 16 educational institutions, and a Fulbright professorship at the Technische Universität in Charlottenburg and the Pädagogische Hochschule in Berlin.

In his citation at Earlham, Troyer was honored as "a respected teacher and scholar, and sensitive and able academic administrator."

Youth Corpsman
Accused in Death
Of Bronx Student

NEW YORK (AP)—A member of the city's Neighborhood Youth corps has been charged, along with five other Negroes, in the killing of a white schoolboy outside a Bronx candy store.

Robert (Curley) Williams, 22, was accused of wielding the knife which took the life of Ivan Terach, 16, a Roosevelt High School student.

The other five arrested Monday range in age from 15 to 17.

Terach's throat was slashed Saturday night when he came to the aid of his father, Max, 59, as a band of youths demanded coins and cigarettes. The elder Terach refused, and was struck.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Irvin Goldsmith said Williams admitted stabbing Terach but said the boy taunted him with the words, "come at me."

The death weapon, reportedly thrown in a sewer, has not been found.

U. S. Strives to Find Jobs for Teen-Agers

BY SYLVIA PORTER
The United States now is going to help young people find jobs for the first time. The new "Neighborhood Youth Corps," a major federal program, is to provide part-time and summer jobs for students in their home areas. It is slated to produce 120,000 jobs for teen-agers just during this summer — 50,000 above the original plan.

Porter
The poverty drive's "work-study" program for college students who must earn money to support themselves in school, is to put 41,000 to work in bidding, even fighting, for the right to give service to unemployed youth.

The drives aren't coming instant too soon. There are now an estimated 2 million summer job-seekers, the vast majority of them teen-agers. Even before the June outpouring, the teen-age jobless rate was 13.5 per cent. While gratifying progress has been made toward achievement among adults, there has been no improvement at all in the teen-age job pattern this year. One estimate is that one in three teen-age job-seekers won't find work this summer.

NAACP to Protest School Segregation In Northern Cities

Demonstrations to Begin in Fall, Delegates Learn at Denver Parley

BY LEWIS M. SIMONS and Portland, Ore., are other DENVER, Colo. (AP) — localities "to mention only a few," Miss Shagaloff said. Demonstrations protesting de facto racial segregation will mark the opening of public schools next September in 24 Northern and Western states, she said, although the director for education of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said today. The director, June Shagaloff, discussing target areas at the 56th annual NAACP convention said: "Boston school officials have refused to act. Bridgeport, Conn., will certainly be considered among Northern systems where meaningful corrective action has not been taken." In New York State, Roosevelt, Mount Vernon, and Buffalo were listed as possible sites for school demonstrations. Chicago

Democrats Introduce Budget Bill

MADISON (AP) — The State Assembly's Democratic majority claimed the votes for quick passage today of an $822.5 million budget bill, unweighted with balancing new tax provisions. The Joint Finance Committee, where Democrats rule 8-6, voted to introduce the separate budget proposal Tuesday and it immediately was marked as a special order of business today in the Assembly. Republicans were vocal about their opposition to separating the budget proposal from a compromise solution to Wisconsin's financial problems. The compromise, drafted in 10 days of bipartisan negotiations, included a provision calling for $105.2 million in new taxes. Wisconsin's new fiscal year begins Thursday, and Assembly Democrats obviously intended to pass a budget before the deadline. The action would give them grounds for claiming they had met their responsibility and that the Republican-controlled Senate was behind in its work.

Senate Bill Reduces Tourist Duty Allowance

WASHINGTON (AP) — American tourists in far away places with a yen to bring home such items as tablecloths from Dublin or glassware from Venice would have a reduced duty-free allowance under a bill passed by the Senate. By a 61-31 vote Tuesday, it cut the duty-free allowance from the president $100 wholesale value to $100 retail value. The $100 wholesale value has been estimated as the equivalent of $167 retail value, so the reduction amounts to $67. But, like the House, the Senate didn't go as far as President Johnson wanted. In an effort to stem the flow of dollars abroad, he wanted a duty-free limit of $50 retail. The Treasury estimated the administration proposal would mean a balance of payments position improvement of about $100 million annually. It pegged the $100 retail limit savings at about $55 million.

Long Summer in Madison

No Possibility Sighted for Early Settlement of State Budget Feud

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The outlook is for a long, hot summer in the Wisconsin statehouse.

After nearly a month of bitter wrangling between the Republican state senate and the Democratic assembly, there now is no visible chance for an early reconciliation of their differences on the problem of financing a heavily increased state budget for the next two years.

The assembly under the direction of its Democratic leaders today was prepared to re-enact a budget bill, without revenue proposals attached, but every body involved recognized that the effort was another in a series of political maneuvers. The Republican state senate and Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles insist upon a budget attached to a balancing tax bill. The senate will amend the Democratic budget bill, the assembly will refuse to accept the amendment, the senate will probably call for another conference committee, and there will be another effort stretching over a fortnight or more to pound out an agreement at the bargaining table.

Positions Adamant But the adamant positions of the parties during the first after-conviction of a serious moving violation, 3,350 unable to arrange settlement of damages in reported accidents under the safety responsibility law, and 2,630 whose demerit point totals caused revocation. During the first five months of this year 9,848 Wisconsin drivers had their licenses suspended or revoked after waiting out their assigned periods of suspension or revocation.

Crackdown Starts on Pellets That Explode When Bitten

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities around the nation are seizing cracker balls, tiny pellets which can explode when bitten. The brightly colored fire-crackers—about three-eighths of an inch in diameter—can be lethal when swallowed. The death of at least one child has been blamed on the pellets which look like candy. The nearness to the Fourth of July, with its traditional use of fireworks, has accelerated the crackdowns.

Nine children throughout the country have been injured because they mistook the cracker balls for candy, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health said Tuesday.

Alert Parents The department warned parents and retailers to be on the alert for the cracker balls, made with an outer coating of paper-mache material. The pellets are made to explode when thrown against a hard surface.

A Massachusetts official said inspectors had confiscated 450 boxes of the pellets under the state's hazardous labeling act. "To date," the official said, "nine cases of oral and dental injury have resulted in the country because these fireworks explode when bitten."

In Portland, Ore., a U.S. District judge ordered the seizure Tuesday of a shipment of more than 3,000 of the caps from a distributing firm at Dallas.

Burned Child The balls are labeled "do not put in mouth." But earlier this month a 2-year-old Eugene, Ore., girl, Michele Defoe, picked one up at a store and bit on it. There was a sharp detonation and the inside of her mouth was burned.

In Louisiana, the Shreveport-Caddo health unit Tuesday banned sales of the pellets. Many retailers voluntarily withdrew them from sale after reading of possible dangers. At St. Louis, a U.S. District judge ruled Tuesday that the would go if they had the power to make their wishes law.

But they are prepared to refuse absolutely to separate the spending and taxation issues, realizing that after an appropriations bill has been enacted, they will lose the support of the influential interests involved in spending programs on the question of raising the tax money.

Postpone Raises

One example of the sideline interests concerned about settling the tax-spending problem was offered yesterday when legislators moved to postpone the effective date of the merit raises that had been scheduled for hundreds of state employees on July 1.

Those employees and their friends, the popular educational institutions such as the state universities, the educational jobbies concerned about state and increases for local districts, and many others, will be sympathetically aligned with the Republican viewpoint, as the Republicans see it, as long as the spending and taxing issues are linked.

Relative of President Is AID Employee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antonio J. Taylor, a brother-in-law of President Johnson, is touring four Latin-American countries as a $75-a-day consultant to the Agency for International Development.

An AID spokesman said Tuesday that Taylor's assignment is to survey the possibilities for a regional Latin-American program in handicraft and artisan works which could be produced for export earnings.

Taylor, 60, is a long-time operator of an arts and crafts store in Santa Fe, N.M., the spokesman said, and has traveled widely in Latin America on business. On this trip he is visiting Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Guatemala.

The AID spokesman said the $75-a-day rate, plus expenses, is standard for such consultants.

Kaltenborn Leaves Estate of $400,000

NEW YORK (AP) — An estate worth an estimated $400,000 was left by H. V. Kaltenborn, famed newscaster, according to an application for probate of his will in Surrogate's Court Tuesday.

The Milwaukee-born commentator who died June 14 at the age of 66, left the bulk of his estate in trust to his son, Rolif, and a daughter, Anais Kaltenborn Robinson.

Bill Approved To Stabilize Farm Income

House Committee Okays Surplus Milk Production Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill which is intended to discourage surplus milk production and stabilize income of dairy farmers was approved Tuesday by the House Agriculture Committee.

The bill has the support of several Wisconsin dairy associations. It is sponsored by Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and proposes to reduce surplus production in the 75 federal milk marketing order areas.

The measure would eliminate the necessity for dairymen to maintain maximum production in order to preserve their individual participation in markets for milk for fluid consumption.

General Farm Bill The bill is expected to be included as part of the general farm bill still to be acted upon by Congress.

Producers operating under a milk marketing order now receive a blend price for all milk delivered. This blend price is based upon a combination of the higher price received for milk used for fluid consumption and a lower price on milk used for manufacturing and other purposes.

Under the blend price system as deliveries of milk into the market increase with a result—democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds lower price, farmers are compelled to increase production in order to maintain their income.

The committee said the blend pricing system unquestionably contributes to surplus milk production. Under the blend price system as deliveries of milk into the market increase with a result—democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds lower price, farmers are compelled to increase production in order to maintain their income.

Show Televised Anti-Poverty Film Immoral, Double Lousy, Claims GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican senators have labeled a television film about the administration's antipoverty program as "shameful," "degraded," "immoral" and "double lousy."

The criticism erupted Tuesday following the Monday night showing of a 90-minute rock 'n' roll type film on the CBS television network.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, and Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., led the verbal attack. Allott said he phoned the president of CBS and told him, "I am about to throw

Children Liked It But here's what Holmes Brown, speaking for the Office of Economic Opportunity, had to say in the film's defense: "My three children saw the program and liked it. I saw Shriver and his group. The nothing immoral, degrading or shameful about it, and neither did my son, who is preparing for the ministry. "Our purpose was to reach a section of the population between 16 and 22. Knowing that funds were used to stage the program, he said, he resented

Brush Fire Nears Home Of Condors

Nesting Ground for Birds in Isolated Part of California

FILLMORE, Calif. (AP) — A brush fire was raging today in a hard-to-reach area of the Los Padres National Forest famed as the home of the rare California condor.

The condors, a nearly extinct breed, are one of the largest and most powerful flying birds in the world. Although carefully protected, their numbers have gradually diminished over the years.

A recent estimate placed the population of the California condors at 40.

The brush fire broke out Sunday in the Sepe Wildlife Area about 12 air miles north of Fillmore. Firefighters said the nesting grounds of the condors were not in any immediate danger, although flames were spreading rapidly.

600 Acres Burned
By early morning, 600 acres had been blackened.

The remoteness of the area — just north of Devil's Heart Fork — made early containment unlikely.

More than 400 firefighters reached the scene on foot. Recruited mainly from Santa Barbara on the coast, they carried hand tools to carve out fire breaks.

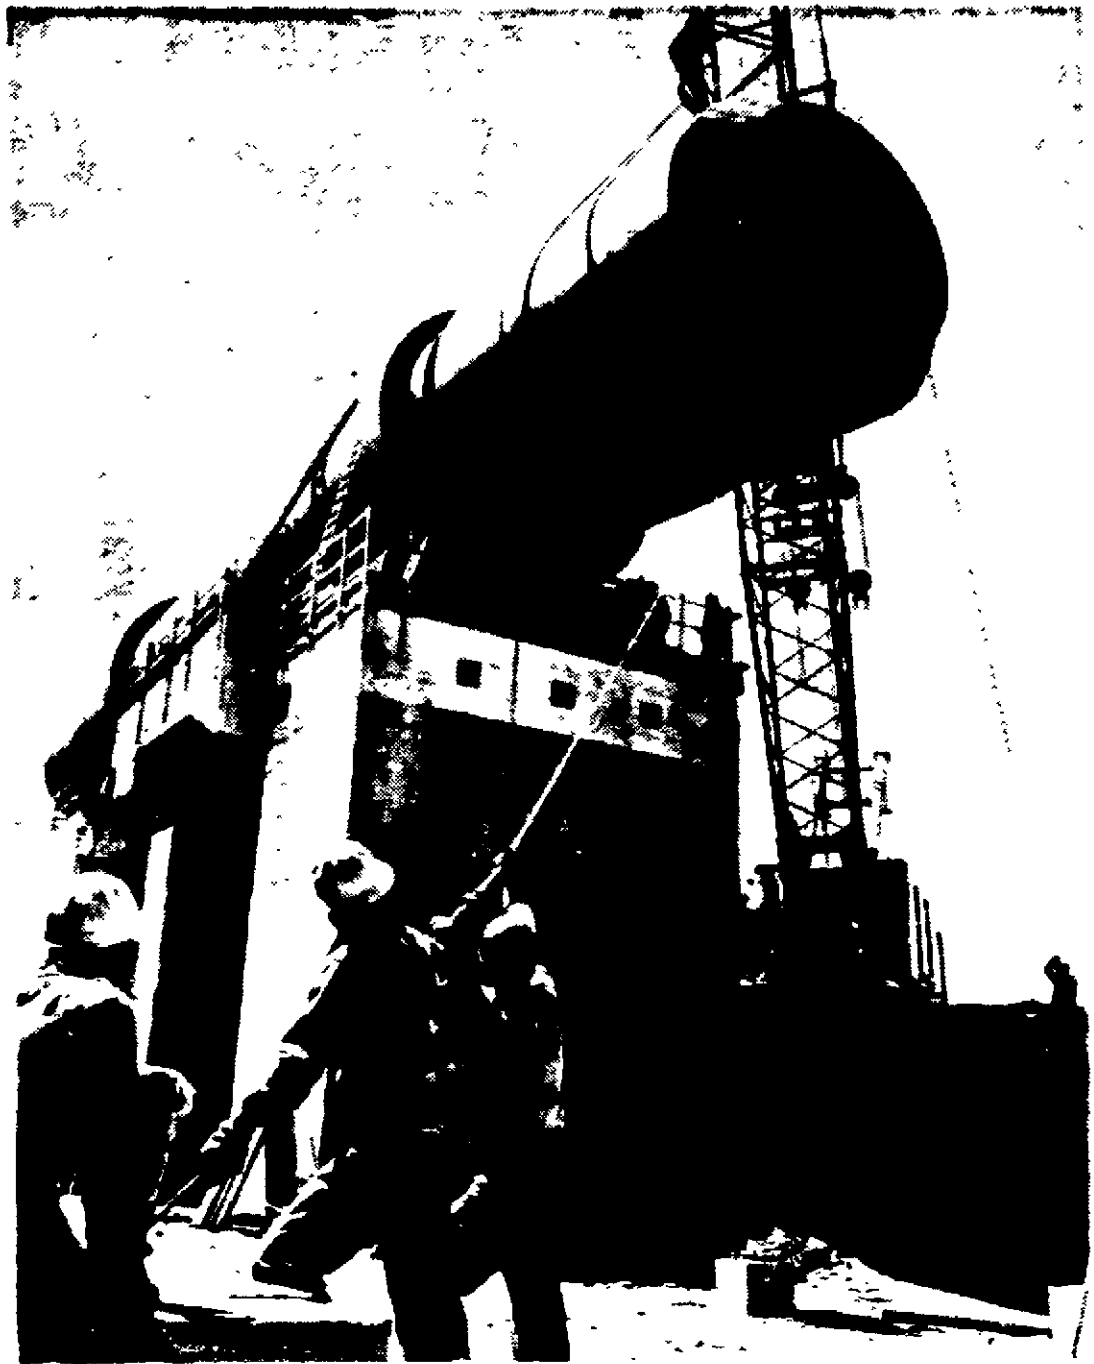

Others, wearing protective clothing, jumped from helicopters at low level.

Tanker planes were spraying fire-retardant chemicals on the flames.

Cause of the blaze was unknown. The area is closed to campers.

California condors are said to be related to a variety which lives in the most elevated parts of the Andes. The California birds, however, are sometimes larger — though of slighter build — than their South American cousins.

A condor, technically a type of vulture, sometimes attacks

The 120-foot-long kiln, made in Milwaukee, is being installed at Eveleth Taconite Co.'s $45 million complex at Forbes, Minn., on the Mesabi Range. Ford Motor Co. will use its pellets of high-quality iron concentrates in its automobile industry in Michigan. Since 1960 Allis-Chalmers has installed nine of the huge kilns which mark an economic renaissance in the iron mining industry, enabling the steel industry to use abundant low-grade ores rather than deplete high-grade ore veins. living animals but carrion is the preferred food. A similar fire caused concern for the California condors in the summer of 1963. It was controlled after burning for two days, blackening 400 acres.

Only last week dynamite blasting in Sepe Creek was hated because a condor flew from her nest after one three-stick blast. The blasting was part of a preliminary test work for a reservoir project.

8 Clintonville Scouts to Camp at Gardner Dam

CLINTONVILLE — Eight Boy Scouts of Troop 21 sponsored by the First Methodist Church will camp at Gardner Dam from July 4-11. Lowell Walker and Ralph Vandree will be leaders. Attending will be David Pasohl, Rodney and Mike True, Danny Utschig, James Buchberger, Steve Stichman, Jeff Rull and Scott Kuschel.

Mrs. Lucey to Attend White House Meeting

MADISON (AP) — Mrs. Patrick Lucey, wife of Wisconsin's lieutenant governor, will join wives of state governors for a kick-off meeting for Project Head Start at the White House Wednesday.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson invited Mrs. Lucey to attend after Mrs. Warren P. Knowles, wife of the governor, was unable to come because of scheduling conflicts.

WHICH PEOPLE DO MORE TRAVELING BY BUS? OLDER OR YOUNGER?

Older. Government studies hard and saving their money. find that older people travel by train or by bus nearly 20 per cent of the time. This is way above the comparable rate of only 12 per cent for travelers under 65 years of age. There are a number of reasons why Grandpa and Grandpa prefer public transportation. It is safe. It is sure to get there in all kinds of weather. It is less of a strain on the driver than taking an automobile would be. Besides, if they are like the older people we know, they like the company of their fellow travelers.

Have our slums changed? Yes — No — Yes, say some, they have changed profoundly. The older slums, inhabited largely by immigrants from Europe, were composed of people many of whom were on the way up. Although they were living in the slums, they were also working

By the next generation they were up and out. The slums today are inhabited more largely by people who are "stuck" or on the way down. They live on relief and have neither the aspiration nor the hope to better themselves. The older slums were buildings; the newer slums are people.

Democracy always means diversity. — True — False — False. Unless there is general agreement as to what is good and what is not, and what principles and goals in life are valid, a democracy cannot long endure. On all other matters there can and should be diversity. Differences of opinion and debate. Even regarding fundamentals there must be freedom to examine and to differ. But unless this results in a basic and substantial agreement, the society is on the skids.

Juvenile Control Bill On President's Desk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has on his desk today a bill authorizing $16.5 million for federal assistance in the prevention, control and treatment of juvenile delinquency.

The measure, passed by voice in the Senate Tuesday, authorizes $6.5 million for the fiscal year starting July 1, and $10 million for the following year.

Parents' World Mother, Teacher Disagree About Child's Intelligence

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: When my 6-year-old daughter started school this year, she knew the alphabet and was very good at simple additions and subtractions. She can pick out tunes on our piano and can play a good game of chess for her age. Her drawing is very advanced and she draws room learning, now and later on in college, you must stop encouraging her to believe that you and she know it all — or can learn everything important simply by reading lots of books.

She's in school now where trained professionals can handle the job of instruction and guidance and evaluation far more easily if you stop teaching her tricks of precocity and a general attitude of disrespect for her peers and teachers. Let her take drawing and music lessons from art and music teachers. When she talks about outer space, bring the conversation back to earth.

You needn't fear that such tactics will turn a genius into a pedestrian mind. Far more minds have been ruined by arrogance than by the occasional boredom that comes with having to wait for the rest of the group.

pictures that she writes stories for. She begs me to teach her to play bridge and she never tires of talking about outer space and of drawing our solar system.

In school, however, my daughter has been put in the slow group, and the teacher tells me her IQ is only average!

I think my daughter is bored — as I was when I visited the classroom one morning and had all I could do just to stifle my yawns. I know that I was a poor student myself after I learned to read, for I lost interest in the dull classroom. So I can't blame my daughter for her poor grades. But because we know my daughter's grades will affect her later college career, we want her to do her best. I would be very interested in your opinion, Mrs. N. J.

If you want your daughter to be able to participate in class-

Dear Dr. Jones: My husband was dead set against buying a television set until our daughter reached her ninth birthday last week. He says she's old enough now so that watching the so-called children's shows won't hurt her. But now I'm worried about how much time she should be allowed to watch it. What do you think? Mrs. N. S.

Usually a total of an hour's viewing is all any child can tolerate without developing problems caused by too much inactivity. Most of the irritability many parents believe is caused by the stories and action their children watch on TV is probably caused by sitting still too long and not getting enough chance to play outdoors vigorously with friends.

Attic's Angels Treated to Tour, Show

The world of the theater has its own unique language, as Attic Theatre Angels and friends learned Friday evening when they were given a tour of the Lawrence University Music Drama Center, the annual setting for the group's summer play schedule.

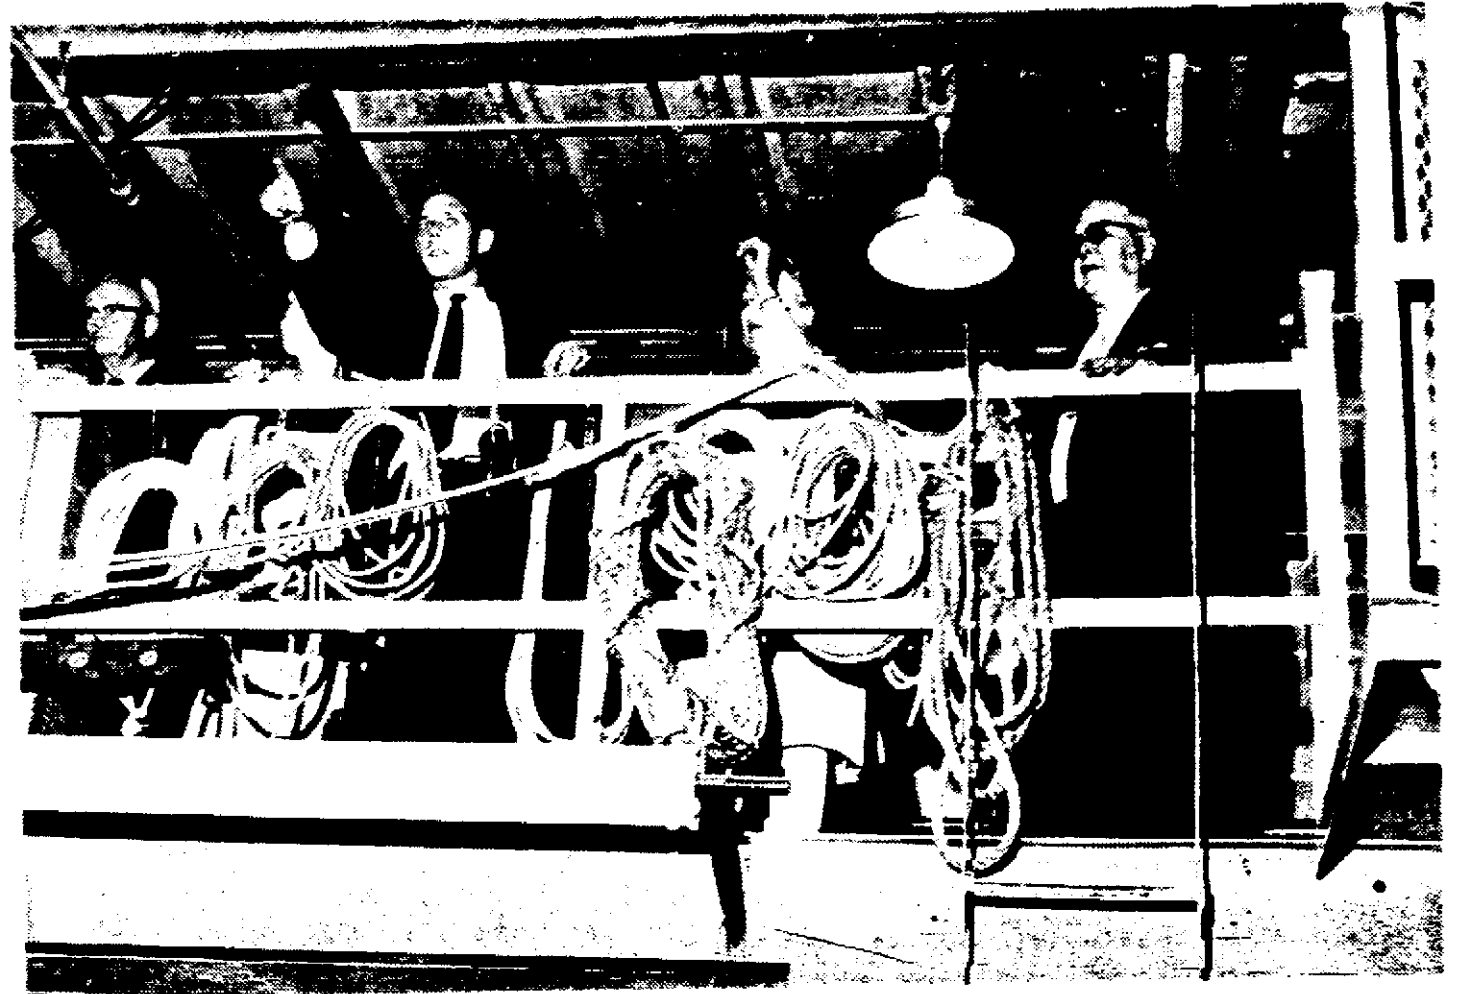

Saturday was opening night, both for Attic's 16th season and for "The Great Sebastians", which will run through July 4.

The season usually opens with an Angels' Tea. This year it was changed to an Angels' Preview, to give those who support the summer theater an opportunity to see the backstage operations.

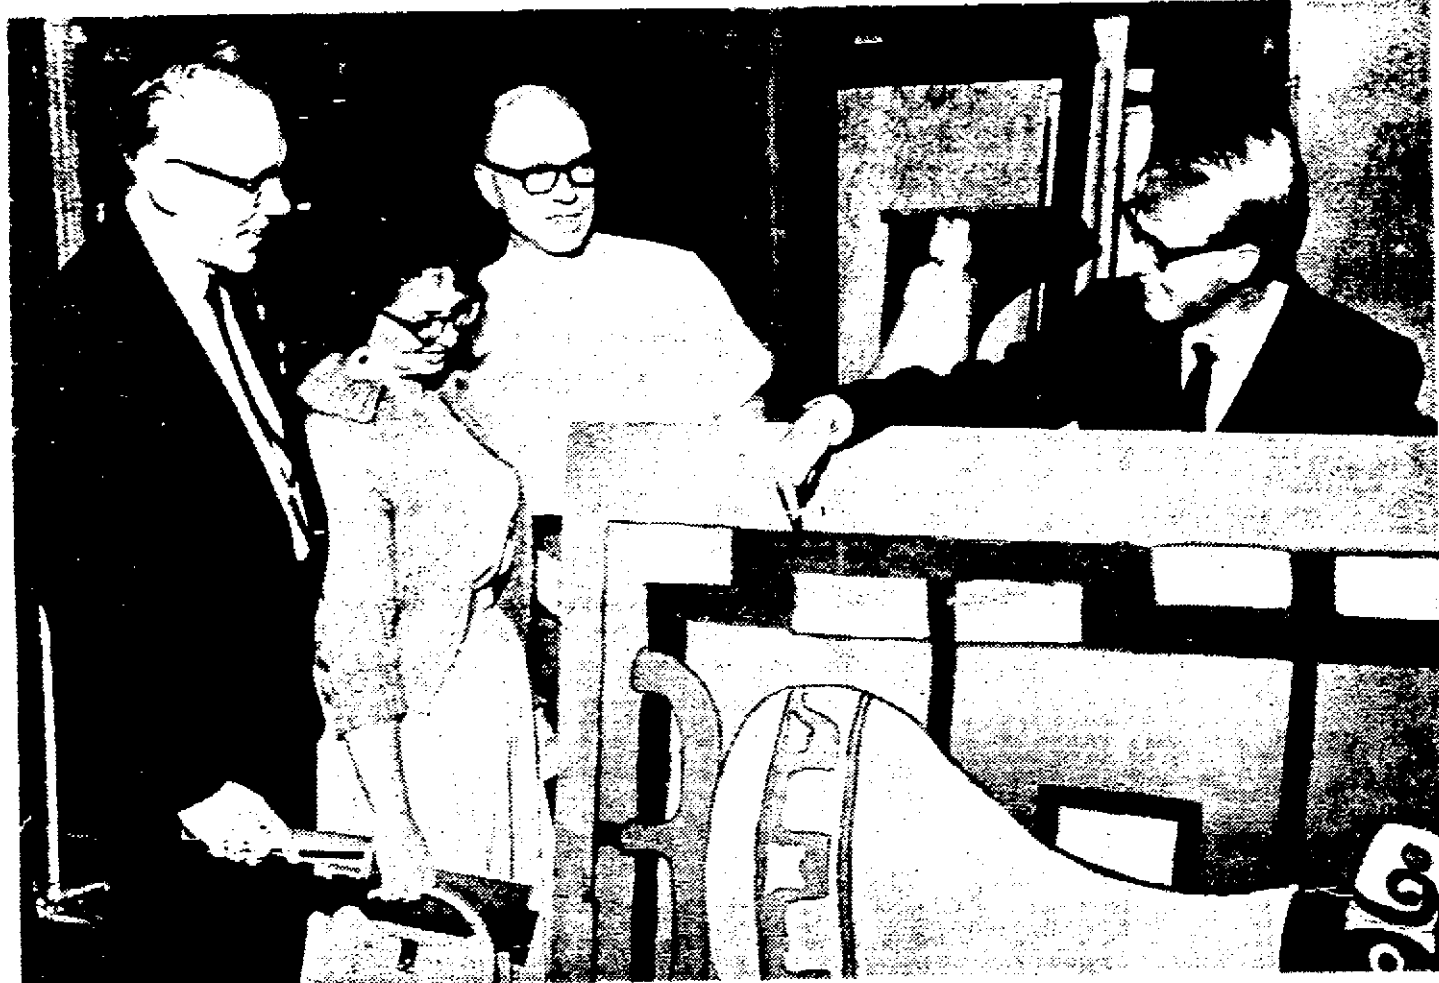

New Words

Added to the vocabularies of the Angels were grid, counterweight, hemp system, scene storage, pin rail, slits, tormentors, proscenium, sound control, pulleys, hatch, workshop, flats and glue base paint. All were explained in detail by tour guides Don Jones, who is Attic's director, Dick Dixon, Dwayne Jurgensen and Pete Otto.

After the tour, Angels were guests at the dress rehearsal of the opening play, and then were honored at a postplay reception, where they met the actors and talked over the forthcoming plays, "The Desk Set", "Tea and Sympathy", "The Lady's Not for Burning", and "Bye, Bye, Birdie".

The Confines of the sound control booth were visited by Attic Theatre Angels during their Friday evening tour of the Lawrence University Music Drama Center. Sound and lighting were explained by Phil Dixson, Attic's technical director. At left, Boyd Payne and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ernst, members of Attic's board of governors, visit at the reception after the play. Below, talking to leading lady Mrs. Kay Kirchberg, are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ruys, Kimberly, and Dick Dixon.

From the Basement, where props and scenery are stored and makeup rooms are installed, to the first floor of Lawrence's Music Drama Center, where Stansbury Theatre, Harper Hall and the experimental theater are located, to the upper areas, where the more technical aspects of theater are operated, Attic Angels got a backstage glimpse of the world behind the footlights. Above, Director Don Jones explains the uses of the Stansbury stage. At left, tour guide Dwayne Jurgensen, right, shows how scenery is painted and put together for various productions. Listening and looking are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carlson and Erik Madisen Jr. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Wyngaard Nuptial Crisis; A Capital Story Missed

A bride's mother naturally wants her daughter's wedding to be perfect. The mother of Miss Sandra Marie Korab, married June 12 to John Corry Wyngaard, son of The Post-Crescent's Madison Bureau chief, John Wyngaard, was no exception. When things went awry, apparently newsman Wyngaard was not attuned to the importance of events so far removed from the world of politics. It took a woman, former Appletonian Louise Marston, society editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, to pen the story of disaster and recovery.

In her column this week Miss Marston tells how the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry J. Korab, Hagerstown, Md., began plans for the wedding in January. Every detail was arranged to perfection, with a "sit-down dinner" scheduled for 300 guests in the new $250,000 addition to the Fountainhead Country Club in Hagerstown.

All in Readiness
The day before the wedding florists moved into the club to decorate elaborately for the dinner and reception. The refrigerators were well stocked and all was ready.

When Mr. and Mrs. Wyngaard arrived at the Korab home Friday evening to pick up guests for the rehearsal dinner, they found Mrs. Korab in hysterics. Through her tears she told them that the entire country club had burned to the ground that afternoon and that all the flowers and food were destroyed.

Officers of Help

The Wyngaards understood her distress, but were unprepared for the way Hagerstown friends and business people stepped in to help.

The city's florists pooled their resources and provided new decorations for the substitute reception setting, the ballroom of a hotel which had just passed into receivership.

Catering services cooperated to provide a new menu.

The hastily improvised reception "went off with great dash," the Wyngaards commented.

The story, however, did not.

Communist Role Still Not Clear in Dominican Revolt

produced a new list of persons identified as leading Communists in the revolt. This list contains 77 names and admits 11 of those on the original list of 54. The new list is reported to be part of a forthcoming U.S. white paper. Some Washington sources say they think that soon the administration will prove its case to Latin-American satisfaction, and if so, this will help repair the damage to the U.S. image wrought by the unilateral intervention.

The new list, it is known, details in almost every case what each Communist leader was supposed to have done in the first week of the revolt. It identifies many as having had Cuban or Communist blue training. An accompanying text accuses Castro Cuba of having had close connection with Red operations in the Dominican Republic.

U.S. sources in Santo Domingo contend the Communists moved into control of most of the 20 commando units into which the rebel military organization was divided and thus could block a political settlement.

Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo, 32-year-old son of a Trujillo era general and the nominal leader of the revolt, scoffs at this. So does his militia chief, Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache. Both are professional officers, as are the 30 or 40 others in the Rebel high command.

Col. Montes Arache, examining the original U.S. list of 54, said he saw in the rebel zone only five of those named. U.S. sources insist that 43 on the original list of 54 were seen in the zone in the past few weeks. They say four others were captured and jailed, one was killed, five were spotted outside the Dominican capital, and all of them were members of the Castroist-dominated 14th of June Movement.

Intelligence Story

U.S. intelligence now puts the story together this way:

When the revolt erupted Saturday, April 24, the junior officers seized the 27th of February military camp and its arms. Civilians seized two radio stations in the capital and announced the overthrow of President Reid. Government forces later took back the stations, but the rebels already had called on civilians to join the rebellion in the streets.

By Sunday, all three Communist factions were active: the Moscow-line Popular Socialist Party — PSP, the violence-minded Popular Dominican Party — MPD, and the 14th of June Movement, which began six years ago as a non-Communist organization but was heavily infiltrated later by Castroists.

The U.S. account says that in the first hours, among the most active Communists were Narciso Isa Conde, PSP central committee member; Diomedes Mercedes Batista, PSP member identified as a commutator to Havana, and Amin Abel Hasbun, of the 14th of June Movement.

The situation was wildly confused by Sunday. President Reid lost the support of senior officers, resigned and went into hiding. At this moment, U.S. sources say, armed PSP members harangued crowds at Independence Park downtown and shouted for violence.

Somebody convinced the rebel leaders they should distribute the captured arms to civilians. The Communists had been shouting the slogan, "Arms to the working class."

Civilians Armed

Several thousand civilians got machine guns, grenades, fire bombs and other lethal weapons. U.S. intelligence says a truck owned by Buenaventura Johnson Pimentel, a PSP central committee member, transported arms to the rebel zone, that his home was used to store arms, that machine guns were mounted on his roof and that his house was the meeting place for 50 members of the Communist strategy command.

The account says Communist leaders played a leading part in distributing arms, sometimes controlling the distribution. Other Communists — identified by name — incited mobs to destroy and burn, to kill police, to loot stores and homes, and were responsible for appeals to the rest of the country to demand arms for civilians and organization of "people's combat units," the report says.

There is a hint of vagueness in the second list of 77 names. The list specifically identifies only a few of the leaders as having been on the scene in the first hours of April 24. By the next day, apparently, more than 30 Red leaders were on hand. The rest are not identified specifically as having been active until April 27 or thereafter. The inference may be that the Communist were not ready for the explosion and swarmed in hurriedly.

The first U.S. Marine landing April 28, the fourth day of the revolt, was announced as protection for U.S. lives. The massive military landings thereafter were to counter an assumed Communist threat to seize the island.

But arguments continue, even about the identities of supposed Communist leaders. For example, Col. Montes Arache acknowledges the presence in the early hours of Manuel Gonzalez, a sub-chief of a commando unit. The rebels say he was a hero of the early fighting before the Marines landed.

Spanish Communist

U.S. intelligence calls Gonzalez an old-time Spanish Communist, member of the Cuban intelligence and a Dominican PSP leader who set up a commando post, helped distribute arms and took part in Communist strategy meetings during the revolt.

Gonzalez told The Associated Press he was on the U.S. list by mistake. He claimed membership in the conservative National Civic Union and said he was only a salesman of U.S. goods who joined the revolt "at the urging of friends."

The Post-Crescent A 3
Wednesday, June 30, 1965

Rebel officers say Juan Miguel Roman Diaz, killed last month in a skirmish with U.S. troops, was a brave man who "never talked politics." The name is widely known. Well-informed persons say Roman Diaz was Cuba-trained, a member of the 14th of June Movement who was deported after a 1963 uprising and returned by way of Cuba.

U.S. sources in Santo Domingo estimate that more than half the rebel civilian army came from the 14th of June Movement. Said one U.S. official:

"That is not to say that they are all Communists. The 14th of June is pro-Castro and nationalist, and includes many types of people."

But these sources connect the 14th of June leadership with an incident which touched off some of the sharpest fighting in the rebellion and set back political negotiations, which seemed to be a Communist aim. The incident, to these sources, also threw doubt on the leadership of Col. Caamano.

June 14th Rally

It began with a 14th of June rally to commemorate that date. Caamano spoke only three minutes and seemed tense and nervous, witnesses say. Hector Emilio Aristy, a young officer who has appeared all over the political scene from right to left, spoke next and seemed confident. Then came Rafael (Fala) Francisco Tavares, identified as hard-core 14th of June and Cuba-trained.

Tavares made a violent speech urging the civilian militia to fire on "Yankee invaders" at a time when a precarious cease-fire was being observed. They did that next day, although rebel officers insist a U.S. soldier fired the first shot. Communists now hold big quantities of arms. U.S. sources

"If the thing looks like it's over for the time being," said one official, "the Communist leaders will wait for a better opportunity. You can bet they won't give up those arms."

BY DAVID ZINMAN NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) —

The mystery man who has been going out with the President's daughter is a former Senate page but Luci Baines Johnson says it's "no great love affair."

Sidney Kaplan, 21, a handsome University of Alabama student, met Luci, 17, at the airport here Sunday. Kaplan escorted her to her French Quarter hotel after Mayor Victor Schiro greeted her.

They rode in the back of a car with two Secret Service men sitting in front. Later, they visited a lounge but didn't dance.

For a day, newsmen didn't know who Kaplan was. Newspapers called him the "mystery escort."

Addressed Conclave

Luci, who works as a part-time assistant to an optometrist in Washington, is here to address the women's auxiliary of the American Optometric Association Tuesday.

Monday night, Kaplan and Luci, wearing look-alike Madras jackets, did the rounds at Pontchartrain beach amusement park.

They went on the two biggest thrill rides—the roller coaster and a whirling dervish called "The Paratrooper." On the midway, Kaplan played a bowling game and won a big stuffed tiger for his date.

Three Secret Service men stayed in the background. But they didn't let the two get far out of sight.

Escorted by Agents

The agents rode behind them in three separate cars when Kaplan and Luci whizzed up and down the roller coaster.

The visit to the park was unannounced and they attracted no crowds.

Luci says she and Kaplan are just good friends. Kaplan attended several of Luci's Washington parties. They had never dated.

"It's no great love affair or anything like that," the winsome, brunette said. She said she makes it a practice to contact friends when she travels.

Kaplan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Kaplan of Alexandria, La. His father is a widely known merchant and civic leader who has been identified with the Democratic party.

Numerous Bad Players In World

Readers of this column are constantly amazed at the number of bad bridge players in the world. Those fellows are always making silly mistakes. Just see how one of them misplayed today's hand.

West opened the ten of diamonds, and East overtook with the jack and cashed a second diamond trick. East saw that it was hopeless to return a heart or a club. Since the only hope was to promote a trump trick for his partner, East returned a third diamond.

South had been worrying about losing a club trick, and he thanked East for relieving him of this problem. He gratefully discarded a club as he ruffed in dummy with the king of spades.

Then South cashed dummy's ace of hearts and ruffed a heart. Unfortunately for declarer, West defeated the contract by over-ruffing.

NO REVOKE

"Revoke" is some body screams. "West must follow suit when the second round of hearts is played."

screaming West had a chance to discard on the third round of diamonds. He threw a heart, of course, but the screamer was so busy thanking East for leading a diamond that he didn't notice the discard.

Regular readers of this column are pursuing their lips and shaking their heads in disapproval of South's play. When East leads the third diamond, South must not be in a hurry to get rid of a club. He must throw his singleton queen of hearts.

Then declarer can return to his hand by ruffing the first round of hearts. There is no over-ruff, and South can draw trumps in safety. Later there is all the time in the world to discard the losing club on dummy's ace of hearts.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold: S A Q J 10 9 4 2; H Q; D 8 2; C 9 6 3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. The hand is not quite good enough in top cards for an opening bid of one, but is far too good for a shutout bid of any kind. You will get a later chance to bid if you wish to do so, and then the nature of your hand will be clear.

thing. The doctor says it is a nervous condition and neuralgia. Can nerves cause this pain?—L. M.H.

Nerves certainly can—and it is either the hardest or the easiest thing to cure. Hardest if the patient is tensely sure that it is heart trouble even though no heart trouble exists; easiest if you can persuade the patient to relax and enjoy life instead of worrying himself into chronic. Here, you will be one of the latter, and that the booklet will help you.

Dear Dr. Molner: The last few months I have had spotting exactly in the middle of my 28-day cycle. I read that this requires immediate medical attention. Would like your opinion.—Mrs. D.V.

This can be a normal phenomenon if it occurs at the same time each month. But it is also something that has been occurring only fairly recently in your case. In short, it can be either normal or a sign of trouble, and I think there is only one sensible answer for you: Have the doctor examine you (including a "Pap" so he can decide whether this is or isn't something significant. Knowing always beats guessing.

Note to Miss S.S.: These pimples on the posterior can be any one of a variety of skin ailments in general, it is virtually impossible to diagnose sight unseen. I suggest that you subdue your embarrassment and ask for your doctor's help, instead of sitting on your trouble.

For facts about the total health of you and each member of your family, Dr. Joseph G. Molner's new book, "Stay Well Every Year Of Your Life," ($5.95) is now available at your book store, or Prentice-Hall, Englewood Cliffs, N.J. (Copyright, 1965)

New Policy Developed for Santo Domingo

U. S. Looks to Exile Of Major Figures in Both Armed Camps

BY ROWLAND EVANS and
ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Behind the tense negotiations in Santo Domingo is this new but unspoken U.S. policy: totally divorce the leaders of both armed camps, the rebels and the regular army, from Dominican political life.

The U.S. is now secretly looking toward the virtual exile of the major figures in these two camps, who have shown no inclination whatever to bend toward each other.

The regular military would be reduced radically and its old-line leaders—including Gen. Elias Wessing Wessin, the army strongman—sent into exile. By the same token, the rebel high command also is earmarked for exile. This even includes Col. Francisco Caamano Dena, the nominal rebel leader.

Based on their frustrations of the past two months, top U.S. policymakers have little confidence in either the army or the rebel making a sound base for future Dominican stability. By cleaning out the two combating camps, they are trying to shape a new deal for the Dominican Republic fleshed out by a new generation of technicians and junior military officers.

Opposed to Coalition

This plan is diametrically opposed to the mission President Johnson ordered McGeorge Bundy, his White House foreign affairs assistant, to perform a month ago: negotiate a coalition government between the rebels and the military junta.

State Department officials—Under Secretary George Ball, Under Secretary Thomas Mann, and Assistant Secretary Jack Hood Vaughn—never had high hopes that the Bundy mission could succeed. President Johnson rightly insisted the effort had to be made anyway. When Bundy failed (after coming very close to success) the policymaking initiative passed to the State Department's Mann.

An integral part of Mann's hard line is that the rebels are not fit for any major government role. As we have reported over the past two months, U.S. officials have been unable to come to a firm conclusion about Col. Caamano. Currently, they do not regard him as wholly independent of far left elements in the rebel command.

Indeed, Latin-American experts outside the State Department suspect that communist and pro-communist elements are at their peak of influence among the rebels. Following the old historical rule that the radical elements tend to drive out the moderates in a revolutionary situation, the Marxist 15th of June movement has grown more dominant in the rebel command.

This leads to the possibility that the radicals ultimately not only will prevent Caamano from agreeing to a solution that would dismantle the rebel movement but might also wage a vain, last ditch military resistance and die on the barricades. The nightmare in the State Department is a "little Budapest"—where U.S. troops would clean out rebel strongholds by force with bullets and bayonets.

To prevent a Budapest, the U.S. has a packet of non-violent alternatives. If the extremists try to hold their ground, the screws can be applied by cutting off paychecks, water and electric power.

Priming Army

The other side of the coin is ruthless pruning of the regular army, slashing its budget and exiling its political generals. Even Antonio Imbert, junta president and assassin of Trujillo in 1961, will join them in exile unless the U.S. heads his Balaguer would be a favorite to win.

It goes without saying that nothing planned in the Dominican Republic ever quite happens. Nor does sweeping away the dreary, dangerous lot of politicians promise stability. Yet, there is hope to be found in the new U.S. policy. By running out the bitter antagonists, an honest attempt is made to avoid both Castro-style and Trujillo-style dictatorship.

The rest of the peace plan is explicit in proposals approved by the Organization of American States: temporary rule by an inter-American board of technicians followed by free elections. As the one man who has held himself aloof (in New York exile) from the current crisis, former President Joaquin Balaguer would be a favorite to win.

She is 82 and is suffering from pneumonia. Balaguer said he would not accept the presidency of the provisional regime proposed by the Organization of American States. But he described the OAS peace plan as "excellent" and said a provisional government was necessary to prepare the country for free elections. He said his Reformista party would cooperate with any temporary regime that had public confidence.

Koufax Hurls Dodgers to 9-3 Triumph

BY MURRAY CHASS

Sandy Koufax finally has overtaken Sammy Ellis. He's also surpassed Sandy Koufax.

The Los Angeles Dodger ace recorded his 13th victory in the National League leaders' 9-3 triumph over San Francisco Tuesday.

Ellis, on the other hand, spent 14 innings trying for his 13th victory but couldn't get it. Instead Cincinnati wound up losing to Pittsburgh 2-1 in 16 innings. The Reds came back and won the nightcap 7-5.

In winning his seventh straight game, Koufax completed a masterful month of pitching. During June he won six times, one more than he ever has won before in one month.

The 13 triumphs also are the most the 29-year-old left-hander has had by the end of June. In 1963, Koufax won five games in

Felix Mantilla Lands Second Base Spot; Robinson Repeats

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix Mantilla, a New York Met reject, was named today on the 1965 American League All-Star team which for the first time in its 33-year history failed to list a single member of the New York Yankees.

Mantilla, the American League's runs-batted-in leader, beat out Bobby Richardson of the Yankees for the second base job on the opening line-up which will face the National League's best on July 13 at Minnesota. The veteran Boston Red Sox, infielder, who also has played the outfield, is the league's fifth leading batter with 317.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was the only repeater from the 1964 opening line-up. Robinson was joined by four players who made the team for the first time. They included shortstop Dick McAuliffe and left fielder Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers, center fielder Vic Davalillo of the Cleveland Indians, and Mantilla.

Other starters, chosen by a vote of 280 league players, coaches and managers, were catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota, first baseman Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox and

Braves Snap Losing Streak, Tip Mets, 8-6

Clout 4 Homers Off Spahn, Reliever; Face Phils Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves fell on Warren Spahn, a former teammate, Tuesday night and downed the error prone New York Mets 8-6 to end a four game losing streak.

Frank Bolling, Ed Mathews, Gene Oliver and Henry Aaron homered for the Braves, who also took advantage of a pair of errors by Johnny Lewis and one by Chuck Hiller for three unearned runs.

The first two innings delighted a crowd of 23,791 with five homers, a triple and a pair of singles.

Bolling hit a homer, his third, at the start of the game. Billy Cowan of the Mets tied the count with a homer off Dick Kelley's first pitch. Then Jim Hickman homered after Charlie Smith had singled.

Mathews opened the second inning with a blast, his 14th, over the right center fence, sending in a run. The score was tied when Oliver followed with a homer, his fifth, over the left field fence.

Kelley yielded to Bob Sadowski in the second after a triple and a walk. A single by Roy McMillan brought in another Met run.

The score was deadlocked in the third on two walks and Rico Cart's single.

Mathews led off the sixth with a walk and Mike de la Hoz singled, both runners taking an extra base when Lewis, in right field, fumbled the ball. Mathews scored as Dennis Menke flied out.

and right fielder Rocky Colavito of the Indians. In all, the American League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

Al Lopez of the White Sox, who will manage the AL All-Stars, was expected to name eight pitchers. Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies, will manage the National League's. Each squad will carry 25 players.

The Yankees who, back in 1939 and 1940 had five starters in the opening line-up, managed to land two runner-up positions. Catcher Elston Howard, sidelined for five weeks following an elbow operation, finished second to Battey. Richardson was runner-up to Mantilla.

Other runners-up included Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew at first base, Zoilo Versalles at shortstop and Jimmie Hall in center; Cleveland's Max Alvis at third base; Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in left field and Detroit's Al Kaline in right field.

The manager, in the past, usually named the runners-up to the squad.

Top Vote-Getter Battey, who received 202 votes, the most by any player, made the starting team for the third time. He also was named in 1962 and 1963. Howard had only 38 votes.

Oddly enough, it was also the third time for Skowron, Robinson and Colavito. Skowron was the starting first baseman in 1959 and 1960. Robinson was the starting third baseman in 1961 and 1964 and Colavito the starting right fielder in 1959 and 1961.

Skowron, traded away by the Yankees in the winter of 1962, also made the team, as an alternate, on three other occasions. It was the sixth time on the squad for Robinson and the fifth for Colavito.

The closest vote for first base where Skowron narrowly won from Killebrew, 125 votes to 108. The biggest surprise was Mantilla's better than three-to-one margin over Richardson, 180 votes to only 56.

Horton Only Rookie Horton, the only rookie on the squad, attracted the second highest number of votes, 198. Yastrzemski, his closest pursuer, had 44.

Davalillo, who received 185 vote to Hall's 72, leads the league in batting with .347. Horton, Mantilla, McAllister and Robinson also are batting over .300.

Last year's game was played at Shea Stadium in New York, where the National League won 7-4 to even the series at 17-all. One game ended in a tie.

The National League has won six of the last seven games.

NEW YORK (AP) — The balloting for the 1965 American League All-Stars will first and second place players:

First base—Bill Skowron, Chicago White Sox; 104. Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota Twins; 108.

Second base—Zoilo Versalles, Detroit Red Sox; 180. Bobby Richardson, New York Yankees; 56.

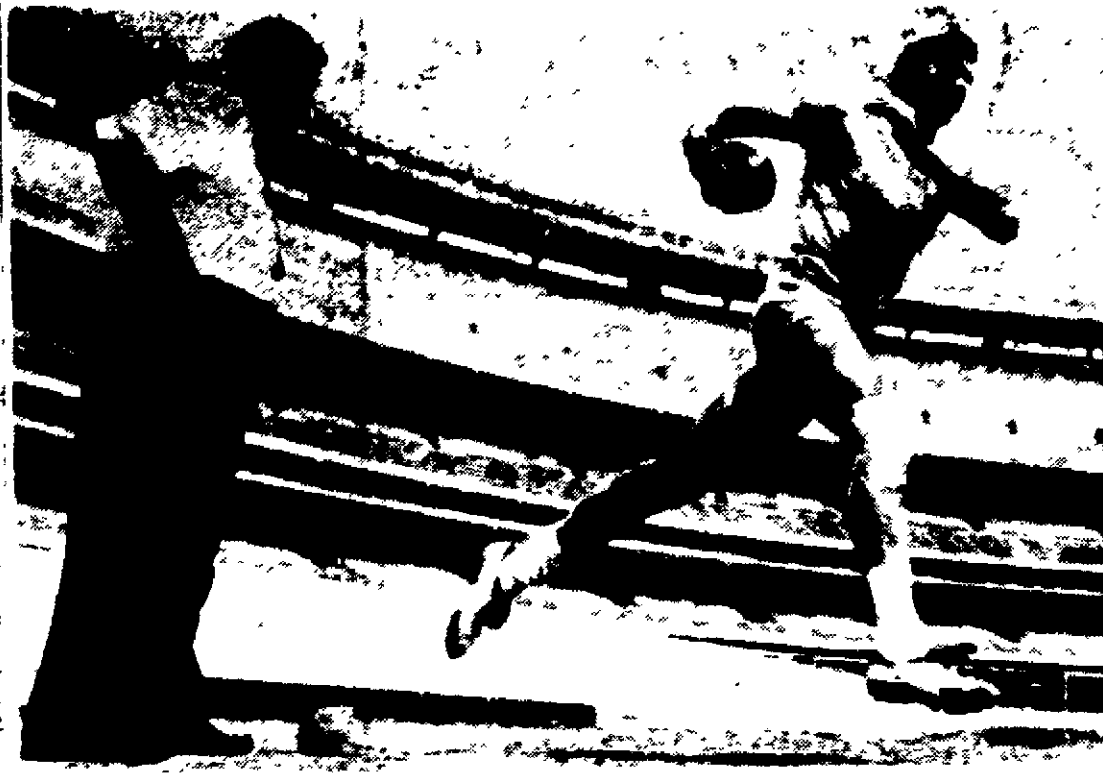

Third base—Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles; 125. Max Alvis, Cleveland Indians; 79.

Shortstop—Dick McAuliffe, Detroit Tigers; 133. Zoilo Versalles, Minnesota.

Center field—Vic Davalillo, Cleveland Indians; 185. Jimmie Hall, Minnesota Twins; 72.

Right field—Rocky Colavito, Cleveland Indians; 164. Al Kaline, Detroit Tigers; 99.

Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 rookie quarterback, skims across the turf Tuesday at Shea Stadium under the watchful eye of Coach Weeb Ewbank. Bob Sullivan to Pick School by End of Week

Wisconsin Not in Contention; McGuire Impresses Cage Star

MANITOWOC (AP) — Bobby Sullivan Jr., a widely sought basketball star from Manitowoc High School, will pick out a college by the end of the week, according to his mother.

Mrs. Sullivan, whose husband played basketball for the University of Wisconsin, said her son won't enroll at his father's alma mater but might pick Marquette.

The younger Sullivan, 6-foot-4 and twice selected on The Associated Press All-Wisconsin squad, has visited campuses of nine schools seeking to acquire him. They include UCLA, the national collegiate champion; runnerup Michigan, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Marquette, Northwestern, Southern California, Stanford and Tulane.

Wisconsin has signed the other four members of the 1964-65 All-State team picked by The AP.

'Likes McGuire' "Marquette is still in the running because Bobby likes Coach Al McGuire so well," Mrs. Sullivan said. "I think of all the coaches he has met, he thinks Al is the most outstanding."

She said Wisconsin eliminated itself by sending Bobby a tender "when he wasn't ready to sign one."

"They (Wisconsin) said they had a couple of other boys they were interested in, and thought Bobby should have had his mind made up by then. Well, in this case they were wrong. He hadn't made up his mind. Now the tender has lapsed and he couldn't go to Wisconsin on an athletic scholarship if he wanted to."

If a tender is not signed within 10 days after it is sent, she said, the player is ineligible for a scholarship at that school for a year. Michigan and Michigan State promised to hold a tender until Bobby decides where he is going to enroll.

also going to the third and fourth place finishers.

Other awards include trophies to the most valuable player, most valuable pitcher, leading hitter or most home runs.

Team entry fees are $20. All completed entries, with accompanying rosters, may be submitted to the office of the tournament director, E. W. (Duke) Grover, City Hall, Appleton.

Wally Lom's Bar, of Green Bay, won the tournament title in 1962 and '63, with De Pere's Swan Club taking top honors in '61.

Berggren's Sport Shop won the inaugural event in 1950.

Doyle Mum on Details Package Deal Planned For Rental of Stadium

MILWAUKEE (AP) — County home city. Executive John Doyle is preparing a Stadium rental package in the event a major league baseball club is lured here after the Braves depart for Atlanta at the end of the season.

He declined to discuss details of the plan Tuesday but indicated it would be more advantageous to a new club than the current contract between the county and the Braves.

"If you ask me whether it is better than the Braves' contract, I have to tell you that a combination of things are involved," he said. "What does it mean to a community to have a ball club? I make $25,000 a year. If somebody offered me $26,000, I wouldn't make a change for that."

He said the proposed rental package is being drafted by his administrative secretary and upon completion will be forwarded to the County Park Commission, operator of the Stadium, and the County Board for approval.

Await Approval He said his version would not be offered to anyone until the Board authorizes such action.

Doyle said he is undecided whether to attend the All-Star game in Minneapolis - St. Paul July 13, an event usually drawing most major league club owners.

He said owners might be afraid to contact him because if the discussion were reported, rumors of discontent would spread through the owner's.

Lema to Head 'Western' Field

Nicklaus, Palmer And Gary Player Aren't Entered

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's big guns, U. S. Open champ Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnie Palmer — will be missing, but the $70,000 Western Open starting Thursday won't be exactly a poor man's outing.

Eight of the Professional Golf Association's top 15 official money winners, including reigning British Open Champion Tony Lema, are included in a 135-pro field.

While Player, Nicklaus, Palmer and U. S. Open finalist Kel Nagle are making the British Open, July 7-9, their next endeavor, Lema again is giving the venerable Western Open a touch of his class.

Last year, Lema also skipped early exploration of the British Open scene, playing the Western Open for a sixth place tie, then flying to St. Andrews to capture the British Open and captivate its galleries.

After Sunday's final Western Open round, Lema will fly to England and a quick preparation for his British Open title defense at Southport's Royal Birkdale course.

Last year's Western Open was won by Chi Chi Rodriguez with 268 — 16 under par.

Ewbank Intends To Play Namath

Slated to Open At Quarterback In Rookie Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — A lean, deeply-tanned young man in a green and white jersey with Namath lettered across the back, dropped back eight paces, set up and fired a long pass down the foul line at Shea Stadium.

"Okay, Joe, I'm satisfied," said a roundish little gent with a crew cut.

Joe Namath, the rookie quarterback from Alabama who is supposed to be getting $400,000 from the New York Jets, had passed his first post-operation test for Weeb Ewbank, his new coach.

"I expect Joe to be working with all the others on the first day at camp," said Ewbank. "I expect him to be the quarterback in our rookie game with Boston."

Report July 14 The Jets report at their Peckskill N.Y. training camp July 14 and will play the Boston rookies July 28 at Lowell, Mass. An intrasquad game July 31 at Baker Field in New York will precede the first regular exhibition game against Houston Aug. 7 at Alexandria, Va.

Namath, who underwent surgery on his right knee Jan. 25, will be tested thoroughly in those early games as John Huarte, his rookie rival from Notre Dame (a $200,000 prize) will be in Chicago working out with the All-Stars for their Aug. 15 game with the Cleveland Browns. Blasin, a 5-foot-9, 165 pound native of Madrid, Neb., was signed by scouts Russ Sehn and Joe Gordon at the baseball school conducted by the American League team in Rushville, Neb.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels announced Tuesday they have signed shortstop Ron Blasin, 21, a student at Colorado State College in Greethrew right.

Foss Won't Give Up on AFL Atlanta Franchise

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Montgomery did not disclose the exact reason for today's meeting and would say only that it is he won't give up Atlanta's group is "working feverishly" in attempting to settle the football territory to the rival situation which has Atlanta National Football League with out a fight. Also today, National Football Atlanta, a local group with which Atlanta insurance executive Rankin Smith and one of the leading contenders for the NFL franchise has long been associated, holds a luncheon to promote two NFL exhibitions scheduled for the stadium in August.

Still Interested
The AFL franchise was awarded to the Cox Broadcasting Co. for $7.5 million earlier this month, and Foss said the company is "still interested" in gaining the right to play in Atlanta Stadium.

Foss refused to confirm or deny published reports that his visit here was intended to urge Cox Broadcasting to make an extremely attractive offer for the right to lease the stadium for football.

Earlier Tuesday, the Atlanta Stadium Authority called a meeting for today to hear proposals for possible professional football tenants at the stadium.

The Authority has set July 1 a deadline for electing a tenant. However, the NFL has not yet announced its franchise owner nor has it asked for an extension from Stadium Authority Chairman Arthur Montgomery.

Rozelle Silent
NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle contacted in New York Tuesday would neither confirm nor deny that he has selected an owner for the franchise.

The Authority has said it does not wish to choose between the leagues, but between franchise owners. Cox Broadcasting has already agreed to pay $7.5 million for the AFL franchise if stadium rental can be arranged.

Main Prizes Today Are Five Sets of Story Books

BY CAPPY DICK

If you put the correct colors in the sections of the adjoining picture you will produce a picture of a butterfly.

Then, if you send the picture to me and it is judged to be one of the 5 neatest and most original contest entries received from boys and girls of the Fox Valley area you will win a magic trick as a local prize. Your entry will then be qualified for the national judging.

are "Tom Sawyer," "Treasure Island," "Arabian Nights," "Heidi," "Alice in Wonderland," "Andersen's Fairy Tales," "Black Beauty," "Robin Hood," "King Arthur," "Robinson Crusoe," "Tales from Shakespeare" and, in the 12th book, "Aesop's Fairy Tales" and "Pinocchio."

Here are the directions which, if followed, will produce the butterfly picture:

In every space marked with a "B" apply blue. In each space marked "R" use red. In all spaces marked "T" use tan and in each marked "Y" use tan and Apply the colors neatly. Use paints or crayons.

After completing the coloring, clip out the picture and paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Print your name, age and address beneath it. Add any decorations you consider neat and original, using paints, crayons, cutouts or other means.

Address it to Cappy Dick's Midwest Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Ellis Dejected After Reds Lose In Extra Innings
PITTSBURGH (AP) — You're pitcher Sammy Ellis and you've allowed one run in 14 innings but two innings later you're in the clubhouse as your team loses. How do you feel?
"I didn't want to come out and he (Manager Dick Sisler) knows it," Ellis said after the Cincinnati Reds had lost 2-1 in 16 innings to the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday. The Reds took the second game 7-5.
"When you're battling that hard and you're not hurting you don't want to come out of there," the 24-year-old right-hander with a 12-3 record said.
He pitched 6 1/3 innings of no-hit ball, 12 innings of shutout ball, struck out 10 and yielded but four hits over the 14 innings.
"It was a matter of an inch," Ellis said in referring to Bob Bailey's two-out, run scoring single which tied the game in the bottom of the 13th. The Reds had scored in the top of the inning.
"He didn't hit it hard. It just ticked my glove. If I get an inch closer to that ball, we win a ball game."

Eagles Sign Trio of Linebackers for '65
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League announced Monday the signing of three linebackers — Mike Morgan, Dave Lloyd and Don Hultz — whose combined weight totals more than a third of a ton.
Morgan is a 242-pounder. Lloyd weighs 250 pounds and Hultz tips the scales at 235.
Top Draftee Raps Single in First At-Bat in Minors
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Rick Monday, Kansas City's $104,000 draft choice, hit a single in his first time at bat for Lewiston in a Northwest League baseball game against Eugene Tuesday night.
Monday signed with Kansas City after being selected first in professional baseball's first free agent draft. He was assigned to Lewiston, a Class A minor league club. He played college baseball at Arizona State.
After hitting the single, Monday flied out and grounded out, then walked to end his first league game. In center field he made one sensational catch.
In an exhibition game Monday night, Monday was hitless. Eugene won Tuesday night's game, 1-0.

Bone Disorder in Later Years May Shorten Height

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D.

affecting middle-aged and elderly persons which causes a gradual decrease in both the amount and strength of bone tissue. Bones become less dense, more porous, tending to lose their normal strength. Usually involved first in osteoporosis are the bones of the spine and the pelvis; as the disease thins the bones of the hips that hospitalize so many persons which causes a weight of the body. The individual may actually become shorter as the bone is continuously resorbed by the body and new bone produced to replace it. This cycle is upset in osteoporosis. Three factors thought to bring this about are one, a decrease in the body's production of hormones; two, failure of the body to maintain proper calcium levels; and three, a lack of exercise essential in stimulating bone strength.

Osteoporosis is quite common among women over 50. We lack precise statistics but a recent survey indicated that three out of every 10 women over the age of 50 who have sought medical care for any reason have osteoporosis. The survey shows one-fifth of the men over 65 suffer from the

August Draft Is Reduced Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — A draft of 16,500 men has been ordered for August, a slight reduction from June and July. All of them will go into the Army.

The most rational preventive measure is a reasonably high calcium intake throughout life, ordered for August, a slight reduction from June and July. All of them will go into the Army.

Good Feelings In Monroe Era Ended Party

Republicans Don't Want to Vanish Like Early Federalists

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a sort of era of good feelings between Republicans and Democrats but the last thing Republicans want is the kind of "era of good feelings" that developed under President James Monroe. That was when this country's first big political party, the Federalists, disappeared from sight.

Nevertheless, still trying to get up off their backs after the catastrophe which hit them in the 1964 elections, the Republicans don't sound brash about the future.

Maybe their small numbers in Congress make them seem muted. They have been strangely uncritical of President Johnson, or most of them have. One of his biggest helpers is the Republican Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen.

Republican Ancestors

The Federalists, the party of Alexander Hamilton and John Adams and ancestors of present-day Republicans, began to slip after Thomas Jefferson and his followers won in 1800.

At first the Jeffersonians called themselves Republicans. They began calling themselves Democrats in 1828 and have been doing that ever since, thus making the Democrats the oldest political party in the country.

The present-day Republicans didn't come into existence until 1854.

As the Republicans (Democrats) grew, the Federalists dwindled. Their opposition to the War of 1812 hurt them. So did internal dissension, an ailment which severely began afflicting present Republicans in 1964.

Lost 2 Elections

By the time Monroe moved into the White House in 1817, with hardly any opposition worth the name in sight, the era of good feelings began. Between 1800 and 1860 the Republicans (Democrats) lost only two elections.

Then came the turn of the new Republicans. They won the 1860 election and every election, with two exceptions, until 1912 when Democrat Woodrow Wilson broke their streak and did it again in 1916.

The present-day Republicans briefly, winning three elections in a row, starting in 1920. But in every election since 1932, except two, the Republicans have lost the presidency and controlled Congress only four years.

In the 1964 election they lost 66 House seats, 2 in the Senate, and held only 17 governorships out of 50. This was the 1964 election score in Congress: House—295 Democrats, 140 Republicans; Senate—68 Democrats, 32 Republicans.

It's hard to see how quietude will help them win in the 1966 congressional elections but here are two examples of Republicans' restrained optimism:

Before the 1964 elections Dean Burch, chairman of the Republican National Committee and close ally of GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, predicted Republicans would carry 28 or 29 states. They carried six.

Ousted Burch

Even after the election, but not long afterwards, he was predicting Republicans would win the presidency in 1968. But before the end of November 1964, a number of Republican leaders and groups wanted Burch out.

He soon seemed a changed man. On March 2, shortly before he left, he called attention to what he said was the "painful evidence of our status as a national political party."

For the past two days his successor as chairman, Ray C. Bliss, has been closeted with the national committee.

He said the committee members were "not cocky" about GOP chances and said the party can make gains only if it picks outstanding candidates and campaigns vigorously. He is aiming at big cities and the Negro vote.

Red Role in Dominican Rebellion Still Cloudy

Slated for Release Today

Paratroopers of the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade scamp for cover after leaving Vietnamese helicopter in a jungle clearing near a village in enemy-infested D Zone, 30 miles north of Saigon. Trooper in foreground carries M16 rifle.

EDITOR'S NOTE — More than two months ago, President Johnson announced the dispatch of troops to the Dominican Republic to prevent a Communist takeover. His action has been the subject of spirited debate ever since. How imminent was the Red threat? Did the Communists control the rebellion? Did the United States act too hastily? In the following article, AP Special Correspondent William L. Ryan, who has tapped sources in the Dominican Republic and Washington, examines the available testimony.

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two months of lingering crisis, heated hemispheric debate has failed to dispel a curtain of fog surrounding the issue of Communist potential in the Dominican Republic rebellion.

What are the facts? In a revolutionary situation, facts are difficult to nail down. This is even more the case where Communist operations are involved. —From evidence of innumerable witnesses, it is clear the Communists took an active part after the revolt exploded April 24.

What is not clear is whether they had any role in plotting or sparking the rebellion, or had control of it at any time.

It is generally agreed from the evidence and official observation that the revolt was launched by a group of disgruntled junior officers against President Donald Reid Cabral's regime. Nobody has accused the 30 or 40 professional military men in the rebel command of being Communist.

Communist leaders moved swiftly into the situation. Left extremists took part in the early hours and continue to take a part. Even the rebel leaders acknowledge this.

Early in the crisis, U.S. government sources issued a list of 54 persons identified as Communist leaders in controlling positions in the revolt. This list seemed hastily thrown together. It included names of a few known to have been non-Communist and others who for various reasons could not have had a role. This tended to weaken the contention that the Communists ran the rebel show.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Bobby Baker investigation makes public today their report and legislative recommendations.

The Democratic and Republican members have split along party lines on their findings but have agreed on some proposals as safeguards against conflicts of interest by senators and senate employees.

The politically explosive investigation was launched just after Baker resigned on Oct. 7, 1963 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority amid questions raised by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and others about his outside financial and business dealings.

Right-Hand Man
When President Johnson was the Senate's Democratic leader, Baker was his right-hand man and the committee's investigations ballooned into an issue in last fall's election campaign. Republicans accused the Democrats of a cover-up and a whitewash.

Baker, who accumulated a claimed fortune of over $2 million while on the Senate pay roll at $19,600 a year, invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions when called as a witness.

A former page boy from Pickens, S.C., he was found "guilty of many gross improprieties" by the Rules Committee in a report last July. It said he had used his Senate office "as if it were a private business office."

Testimony brought out that he had interests in insurance, vending machines, motels, meat imports and other enterprises. He had made some highly profitable stock purchases.

Committee Report
After the committee's report last July, Williams forced a reopening of the investigation with a Senate speech charging a political payoff by Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor and former ambassador to Ireland, on the District of Columbia Stadium project. Williams said that McCloskey had made a $35,000 overpayment on the performance bond on the stadium and that $25,000 of this had been channeled through Baker to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

Lobbyist Friends
Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man, later swore he was the "bag man" and kept $10,000 for handling the money. But McCloskey made a sworn denial of the charge and testified the overpayment was a "gool" by his company. Others who figured prominently in the reopened investigation included lobbyist friends of Baker and Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides, who resigned at the President's request during last fall's presidential campaign after disclosure Jenkins twice had been arrested on moral charges.

On the advice of psychiatrists, the committee excused Jenkins from testifying but he answered written questions under oath and denied pressuring Reynolds into buying $120,000 worth of Tex. television station controlled by the Johnson family.

Police Investigate Negro's Drowning

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh Police are investigating whether the Negro fisherman who drowned in the Fox River here Tuesday night fell in or was pushed in by two white youths who fled the scene.

The body of William C. Anderson, 42, Indianapolis, Ind., was recovered from the river at Riverside Park near the Main Street bridge shortly after 11 p.m. by the fire department rescue squad. The alarm was turned in about 10:30 p.m.

Leonard H. Ziebell, 65, 405A W. Eighth Ave., Oshkosh, who had been fishing with Anderson, told police he believed two white boys, about 17 or 18 years old, who had been talking with Anderson, had pushed him in the river. Ziebell said he was checking his poles when he heard a splash and turned around. He did not see Anderson and the two boys were running north on State Street toward Ceape Avenue. Ziebell immediately called for help. He ran to where a Negro companion of Anderson's was sleeping in a car and told him that two boys had pushed "his buddy" into the river.

Police reports indicated there were no actual witnesses of the incident, but fishermen on the dock gave descriptions of the two boys, who had stopped and talked to several other fishermen before meeting Anderson.

Police were told one boy was about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, of average build and the other youth shorter and stocky. One fisherman said the shorter boy spoke of visiting the taller boy, who presumably lived at Oshkosh. The fisherman said he believed the shorter boy was not from Oshkosh.

Ziebell had met Anderson and his Negro companion about 5 p.m. and had agreed to meet the pair about 9 p.m., which he did.

Winnebago County Coroner Art Miller declared late this morning that the death of Anderson was hunting. "A typical response due to drowning. However, due to the unusual circumstances for the death, a coroner's inquest will be held."

39-Page Report
The 39-page report labeled Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. the "most important figure in the presence of the coroner civil rights efforts in Alabama indicated that death resulted recently, as one "actively engaged in promoting the Communist line."

King blasted the report as "another attempt to evade the fact that democracy does not exist in Alabama. If these men were as concerned with the fulfillment of the U.S. Constitution as they are with witch-hunting and name-calling, we would not even need a civil rights movement."

5-Man Committee
The five-member committee branded CORE as an organization which "is an important arm of the pro-Communist conspiracy."

D Zone Jungle a Place of Horror for Most Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Vietnamese and American troops are carrying out their first joint combat operation in one of the most dangerous areas of the Vietnamese jungle in Viet Nam.

The very name of the area — "D Zone" — is one that evokes a sense of supernatural horror among most Vietnamese. Many Americans, who have served in or near the dreaded area, believe the "D" stands for "dangerous."

But "D Zone" is not a formal name, and no map uses

French rubber and cashew nut plantations, the zone is mostly unbroken jungle. The rain forest in places towers to a canopy 200 feet from the jungle floor. Other parts are an almost impenetrable mass of brush and vines.

Because of its proximity to Saigon, the zone for years has been a refuge for bandits, political outcasts and revolutionaries. Once man goes into the zone, he is rarely found until he decides to leave. A northeastern part, known as "Ara-Salour," became one of the key headquarters areas of the Viet Minh during the war against the French and then of the Viet Cong.

Except for some large, open areas, the zone is a place of horror for most Vietnamese.

Lucien Rivard Case

Canadian Official Quits
Over Bribery Scandal

OTTAWA (AP) — Chief Justice Frederick D. Borden's inquiry into the Lucien Rivard bribery scandal has resulted in the resignation of Justice Minister Guy Favreau, but Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson says that is "only the first scene of the first act."

Favreau resigned Tuesday night after Quebec's chief justice criticized him for dropping an investigation into an alleged offer of a $20,000 bribe to a prosecutor in the case.

Pearson said he would give Favreau another Cabinet post but that the Justice Department would look into the possibility of criminal charges against others assailed by Dornon.

Crime in Politics
Pearson added that his government wants to "deal with the sinister and growing involvement of crime in politics."

He said that Favreau, 47, a lawyer who is considered a top contender to succeed Pearson, would continue to lead the Liberal party in Quebec Province. He said the Cabinet had given Favreau a vote of confidence and that his integrity remained unshaken.

Rivard, 49, is wanted in Texas as the alleged kingpin of a multimillion-dollar heroin smuggling operation. He escaped from a Montreal jail March 2 and is still at large. A reward of $15,000 has been posted for him.

Lamontagne represented the U.S. government in the case. Dornon concluded that "there cannot be any doubt" that the bribe was offered to Lamontagne by Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to former Immigration Minister Rene Tremblay.

Hopes Revived
For Survival of California Family

EL ROSARIO, Mex. (AP) — Hopes that four members of a California family might have survived after their cabin cruiser sank were revived today when searchers reported finding footprints, a lifejacket and women's clothing on a deserted beach.

The footprints and other objects were found late Tuesday by a 15-man search party 45 miles south of here near the spot where a 15-year-old girl, Denise Winter, crawled from the sea Saturday.

She earlier was believed to have been the only survivor in the family of five aboard the 45-foot cabin cruiser that sank off the Baja California coast last weekend.

Dwarfs Postwar Birthrate

Baby Boom Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — For years, educators have been talking about the postwar baby boom, and the problems it has meant for the schools.

Forget it! There's a bigger boom coming up. Lots more babies. Lots more problems.

A report released here today by the National Education Association confirmed biological facts many people have overlooked:

Those babies born when Johnny came marching home again from World War II have grown up. They're getting married. They're having babies.

And in a few years those babies will be starting school. That means more classrooms. More teachers. More taxes.

The NEA report cited these figures from the U.S. Census Bureau, the nation's official baby-counter:

The number of births in the United States jumped from 2.9 million in 1946 to 3.9 million in 1947. Then it tapered off at about 3.7 million through 1950, but four million in 1954, and in 1964 was 4.1 million.

This year the number of births may reach 4.5 million, and by 1970 it could hit 5.2 million. The Census Bureau acknowledges those figures could be smaller, depending on what it calls the nation's "fertility rate."

A limiting factor, according to the NEA report, is that most young women today seem to want three children. Ten years ago they wanted four.

More and more youngsters are starting school earlier. They're staying longer.

Between 1960 and 1965, the number of persons 25 or older with at least four years of high school is expected to rise from about 41 million to 87 million, and the number of college graduates is expected to increase from 7.6 million to 20 million.

The NEA didn't try to project what all this is going to cost. But there's more than a hint in this statistic:

Expenditures for all levels of education, public and private, from kindergarten through graduate study, will reach an estimated $36.5 billion this school year.

Legislators Okay High Cliff Shelter

Resolution Allows $100,000; Branch Banking Bill Defeated

MADISON (AP) — The Assembly concurred 94-1 Tuesday in a Senate resolution that would approve $100,000 for building an enclosed shelter at High Cliff State Park.

The measure, which now heads for the governor's desk, had been pushed through the Senate earlier in the day.

Meanwhile, supporters of a bill to establish branch banking in Wisconsin held only lingering hope that it would be passed by the Assembly this session.

The Badger State Banking Association, the prime organizer of support for the proposal, told its Assembly sponsors Tuesday to bring the bill up for final action if it could pass. The measure got the necessary two-thirds majority to be debated, but the 3-32 vote fell far short of the number needed for passage.

Major Necessary

The bill, which is required by the Constitution to have a two-thirds majority for passage, provides that banks may set up branches in their own town, city or village as long as they are not within one mile of any other home office bank.

A glimmer of hope remained for the bill's backers as Assemblyman G. K. Anderson, R-Waupaca, later moved reconsideration of the vote.

A proposal giving Wisconsin municipalities the option of using either an electronic or standard mechanical voting machine was resoundingly rejected by the Assembly 62-31. The bill already had passed the Senate 17-12.

Punch Cards

Electronic voting machines use paper punch cards for ballots which then are transported from the polling place to a central tabulation center for counting by a computer.

Assemblyman William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, said the electronic machines are less expensive and just as accurate and safe as mechanical machines.

"Paper ballots, standard mechanical machines and electronic machines can be manipulated," Steiger said. "Elections in this state as in any other state are only as good as the people that run them."

Called 'Gimmicks'

The main objection to the bill, Assemblyman Earl McEssy, R-Fond du Lac, ridiculed the electronic machines as "gimmicks" that "threaten the sanctity and secrecy of the ballot."

"Punching a hole in a paper card is voting electronically," McEssy scoffed. "They say that's progress and modernizing."

The bill was not sent back immediately to the Senate, which would give it a chance to be revived by a motion to reconsider.

The Assembly gave surprisingly strong backing to a bill providing a new concept in state aids to education. On a 79-18 vote, a proposal appropriating up to $2.4 million for grants for students to attend private colleges in Wisconsin was approved.

Amendment Defeated

Before passage, an amendment that would have extended the grants to Wisconsin students attending a private college out of state was defeated 78-19.

The amount of the grant would be based on the income of the student and his parents, but no one could receive more than $250 a semester. A state commission for higher educational aids would be created to administer the grants.

Another bill passed by both houses Tuesday would allow welfare recipients to deduct from their earnings a share of the money received from federal anti-poverty projects.

Froehlich Raps State Dummy Corporation

Appleton Salon Attacks Method of Floating Bond Issues

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The strongest attack thus far heard in legislative halls on the state's dummy corporation method of floating bond issues came Tuesday from the youthful chairman of the assembly Republican caucus, but there was no sign that the other leaders of the legislature are seriously interested in the question.

"You know and I know that this method of going into debt in the face of a constitutional prohibition against debt is an outright fraud," Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, Appleton, challenged the assembly judiciary committee at a hearing.

Public Discussion

The committee had scheduled for public discussion Froehlich's proposal for a constitutional amendment that would legalize regular state bond issues within stated limits, and that would also abolish the quasi-public corporation device invented many years ago to circumvent the constitutional rule against debt. The absence of supporting witnesses in significant number, or any other response from legislators, indicated that there is probably only a scant chance for approval of the proposal.

Ogdensburg Man Guilty Of Forgery

One-Year Sentence Suspended Pending Military Charges

WAUPACA — James Peterson, 29, route 1, Ogdensburg, pleaded guilty to three counts of forgery and was sentenced to one year in the state reformatory in Green Bay when he appeared Tuesday in Waupaca County Court.

However, the sentence was stayed and he was to be turned over to military authorities with whom he also faces charges.

Peterson, a soldier stationed at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., admitted forging three checks totaling $171. The checks written on Waupaca banks were cashed between June 6 and 14 while Peterson was home on weekend passes. He was arrested June 19 and after being arraigned in Municipal Justice Court June 21 was held in the county jail in lieu of a $1,000 bond.

Judge Herbert Bunde, who is presiding in the absence of Judge Wendell McHenry, sentenced Peterson to one year on each of the three counts which are to run concurrently. He then stayed the sentence until the outcome of his military charges. If he is released from military service, Bunde said Peterson will be returned to serve his sentence.

Memorial Drive Will Open to Traffic Thursday

Appleton's Memorial Drive—with a half-mile of new concrete—will be opened to traffic Thursday afternoon.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said today the $170,745 reconstruction project has been completed, except for last-minute inspections.

The project was under the supervision of the Wisconsin Highway Department under terms of a grant arrangement in which the city's share of the total cost was $41,600. The newly-paved portion is from the Memorial-Prospect Avenue intersection north to Lawrence Street.

Ahead of Schedule

Completion of Memorial Drive, which was closed to the public and torn up in May, is ahead of schedule.

Lower Rate for Electric Heat

Kimberly School Scheduled to Save $4,700 Each Year

A new electric rate for heating stores, offices and schools has been announced by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

The new rate has been approved by the Public Service Commission (PSC) and becomes effective Thursday.

According to J. H. McLean, power company assistant vice president, the new rate makes electric heating of many commercial and government buildings economically competitive with conventional heating.

"In fact, where heating can be integrated with lighting in larger buildings we believe they can be heated and cooled electrically at a lower cost than with any other fuel," McLean said.

Kimberly High

"Though the new rate applies to only a limited number of buildings now, we believe it will have a significant influence on the design of future buildings," he said. The rate reduction will save present all-electric customers a total of about $6,500 per year. The largest individual savings will go to the all-electric Kimberly High School where the annual electric cost will be cut approximately $4,700," McLean said. Others to benefit from the new rate are the south side Park 'N Market, First National Bank, Sherwood State Bank, and the Arnold Wagner Motel near Shawano. Other buildings now under construction also will benefit from the rate reduction, he said.

"We have gained sufficient experience with electric heating to learn that it is completely practical in many buildings in which heretofore electric heating was not even considered. The new rate makes it necessary for cost-conscious owners planning such buildings to give full consideration to electric heating. To qualify for the new rate, the building must use electricity for both space heating and water heating. In addition, all other uses of energy such as cooking and air conditioning must be electric," McLean explained.

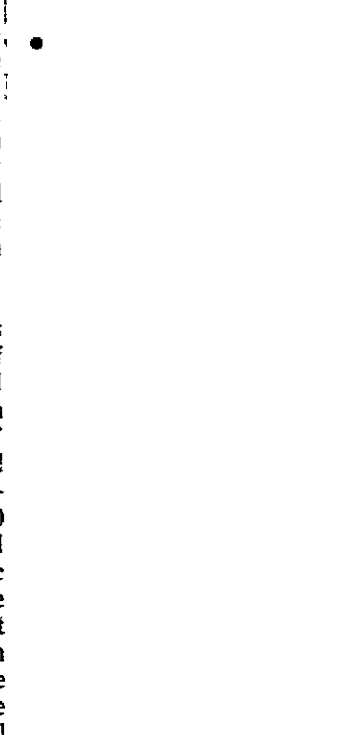

The new rate does not apply to residences. An all-electric rate for homes was introduced by the utility last August.

A delegation of Outagamie County, City of Appleton and Chamber of Commerce officials will be at the airport to greet the first commercial airplane to land there. Heading the welcoming committee will be County Board Chairman Alvin Fulecr of Kimberly, Chamber Executive Secretary Delmar C. Drumm, possibly Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell, some members of the county's airport committee, and the Chamber's aviation committee.

Tonight is the night for the "big move" by North Central. The airline will be moving its equipment, lock, stock and barrel, to the new airport, according to Herman Jolitz, manager of the airline's Appleton office.

The new terminal will be opened Thursday morning with a new ticket counter space, baggage and freight facilities and passenger lounge area.

When flight 231 touches down at 10:44 a.m., it will signify the agreement to provide service at the new airport.

County highway department officials are then expected to paint a huge "X" over the abandoned airport's runway, signifying that it has been closed—permanently.

The Open Occupancy Bill

The most important fact about the new housing bill that is likely to be approved in the state assembly is its bipartisan sponsorship and the bipartisan division of the house on the first important test of the sentiment of the lower legislative group.

There has been an unfortunate disposition in some quarters to assume, perhaps because northern Democratic leaders in national politics have concentrated on the matter so heavily, that this is a party issue. Clearly it is not, on the basis of the records and the statements of the most representative of the national Republican leadership from Mr. Nixon to Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Scranton and others, and now on the basis of the performance of the Republicans in the Wisconsin assembly led by their chosen quarterback, Assemblyman Robert Haase of Marinette.

Republicans, in fact, can claim as much credit for this bill as can the Democrats. Although the Democrats have made this question a platform issue for several terms, they have not been able to discipline or to depend upon the votes of some of their key legislators from Milwaukee where the problems of housing discrimination, however they are measured, are known to exist to a substantially larger degree than they do in the non-metropolitan districts of the state.

It was Republican Gov. Knowles, in fact, who was principally responsible for the rewriting of earlier and more stringent proposals that all realists knew didn't have a chance of enactment. The current bill is not all that some of the civil rights organizations of the state including the principal spokesmen for Negroes would ask, if they had the power to gratify their desires. But what they want cannot be granted. Here is an opportunity to pass a more moderate and reasonable bill, and to establish a foundation upon which improvements can be erected in later time, according to demonstrated need, possibly changing circumstances, and experience.

The present bill would impose state regulations against discrimination in housing where it is conducted as a commercial business. Thus for all practical purposes the residential owner would not be involved. If this does not meet the ideal as desired by some of our neighbors, it is better than no statutory prohibitions whatever, which is the practical alternative that now confronts the state.

Students Borrowing More, Working Less

The student who works his way through college by waiting on tables, washing dishes and sweeping floors may be vanishing from the American scene. In many cases and places this is a calculated decision. It is based largely on the general national prosperity.

Many parents are able to bear the entire financial burden of their children's education. Numerous scholarships and grants are available to the better students, and it is easier than ever before to borrow money for education.

Why should a needy student wait on tables or wash dishes at $1.25 an hour when he can borrow enough to see him through college and then get a job paying at least three times what he could earn as a bus boy? He can use the extra time in college, the theory goes, in keeping up his grades or improving them. A larger part in social activities will help him later when contacts mean much.

The affluent student comes to college with a late model automobile and enough money to let him live in comfort.

Adventure Playgrounds

Lady Allen of Hurtwood, one of England's leading landscape artists, has severely criticized American playgrounds. They are "an administrator's heaven and a child's hell" she says. "It is time to decide whether our playgrounds are to be designed for adults, who love to be neat, or for children who love to be dirty."

Lady Allen may be speaking in the extreme when she warns that such sterile playgrounds, with all the equipment bolted down, threaten a child's spirit. But it is quite likely that many children are bored to apathy or mischief by the correct swings, teeter totters and jungle gyms on most American playgrounds.

The British woman says an adventure playground should consist mostly of space, some trees and bushes and a lot of lumber, nails, bricks, hammers and pipes. Then the children can build their own playthings, their flimsy tree houses, shacks, fireplaces and swings. Her ideas have been increasingly accepted in England where 28 of these adventure playgrounds have been built—or rather made available. Sweden, Switzerland and Denmark also have quite a few.

Most of us who grew up in small towns or on farms more than 30 years ago had small experience with organized playgrounds. But we remember with nostalgia the house we built in the maple tree and the knotted rope which was the only way up. There was the little used barra and the rope to the layoff which swung us out over dizzying and dangerous space, the trenches and tunnels we dug in sand by the river where we waged unremitting warfare, the camp in the lilac bushes where our cooking fires undoubtedly seared the blossoms.

Such pleasures are unavailable to city children today. Playground activities in city parks are generally intelligently conceived and carried out. But perhaps the boredom of children merely turned loose on the antiseptic and barren playgrounds is because there is no challenge, no spur to imagination, not even a wisp of real danger. The adventure from wonderings of the mind needs all, not merely for fun and happiness but we suspect for growth itself.

Looking Backward

Wisconsin Pioneer Judge at 23

100 Years Ago

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 8, 1865.

(Wisconsin Territorial Gov. James Duane Doty lived in Neenah for many years and was one of the pioneer founders of both Neenah and Menasha. A replica of his log cabin home, known as the Grand Loggery, stands today as one of the historic landmarks of the state in Doty Park, Neenah. The cabin is located near the original site on the Neenah side of Doty Island. At the time of his death, Doty was territorial governor of Utah. This is the first part of the story about him, which ignores his years in the Twin Cities, reprinted from the Green Bay Advocate in the Appleton Crescent.)

The death of James Duane Doty came upon us with much surprise, sorrow and regret. His name has been identified with the history of this section of the country for over 40 years past, and in his decease we lose another of the few enterprising spirits who in fact commenced the settlement of this state.

Gov. Doty was born in the state of New York, about the first year of the present century, and at the early age of 19 emigrated to Detroit and commenced the practice of law in company with the late George M. MacDougall, Esq. Shortly after his arrival, his superior ability and pleasing personal address attracted the attention of Gov. Cass, who appointed him private secretary, in which position he remained until 1823.

He accompanied the Governor on his excursion to Lake Superior at the time the first treaty was made with the Chippewas of that region, by which their friendship and allegiance were transferred from the British Government to our own.

The Governor found the British ensign raised at all the Indian councils and with his own hands tore down the foreign flag and planted in its stead the stripes and stars of the American Union.

Continued Aid to Nasser Shows Lack of Common Sense by LBJ

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

When President Johnson lifted the suspension on a remaining aid allotment to Nasser he did exactly what a Senate majority had intended to prevent.

The outraged members tried to stop the golden flow after Nasser's thugs burned our Cairo libraries and heaped contempt—again—on American aid. A wiser U.S. policy was as much at stake as the money.

Yet, behind the scenes, Mr. Johnson engineered the defeat of the aid ban in the Senate. He repeated the same old, tired contention that is promoted whenever common sense catches up with our foreign aid. He fell back on the famous cliché, "You mustn't tie the President's hands in foreign affairs."

Cliche Full of Holes

Now, everybody knows foreign policy is a President's responsibility. But surely it is not his responsibility independent of the Senate and the cliché is as full of holes as a sieve.

Nevertheless, Senate minority leader Everett Dirksen (R., Ill.), nursing his image as a statesman (oh, mama mia!), makes this hoary cliché even more trite by bellowing, "Yea-yea-yea!" Dirksen among others, caves in like a hollow egg whenever the White House pronounces it.

Yet a slogan is never a substitute for the facts. All other responsible governments in free countries require various parliamentary approvals in foreign matters. In fact, much confirmation of the American President's foreign-affairs intentions is required, of course, in our Constitution, even his choice of ambassadors. Totalitarian countries are different, but we're not supposed to be a totalitarian nation.

Never Our Friend

Some foreign aid remains essential. For example, what would happen if we eliminated our economic aid in South Korea? But Nasser, never our friend, has already picked up more than $12 billion from our taxpayers. He has also added immensely to our global costs, and those of our allies, by relentlessly disrupting the peace.

This aggressive demagogue was a prime factor in equipping the Stanleyville and Paulis massacre units advancing from the Sudan on Egypt's south, Uganda and Burundi. The fiery Congo borders eight African states. Much of the horror we've seen, and the treasure we've spent there, is directly traceable to Gamel Abdel Nasser.

The Shinbet (Sherutei Beta-han), the Israeli Intelligence is preparing for aggression against Israel at this very moment. In any case, he is a chief reason for the heavy

You Ate 17 Pounds of Candy in '64

From Exchanges

Oh goody. The candy people say its alright to go to the candy display counter, pick out a tasty bar and devour it. And without a tinge of a guilty conscience. Just don't overdo it, please.

Candy, the National Confectioners Association says, doesn't contain anywhere near the calories people seem to think.

Candy, says President Douglas S. Steinberg, has been a whipping boy too long.

"Of course, we don't recommend overeating and we do advocate good dental habits. But candy is healthy and a reasonable dessert. We think it belongs in anybody's diet," he added.

Lots of people must think the same in spite of the dieting that's going on. Candy sales are way up. They rose to a record high of $1.4 billion (wholesale) in 1964, a 7 per cent increase over 1963. The average American ate 17 pounds, 11 ounces, the highest per capita consumption in 14 years.

Either there are jillions of dieters who are cheating or they are buying two of the nickel bars in order to get the equivalent of what one used to be. Most sales are in bars, the association said.

It also said a healthy chunk of the sales was in penny pieces. That may be the answer. There can't be enough calories in today's penny candy to throw the total per-day calories off balance. Go on have a piece of candy.

Revision of State Constitution Loses Its Political Appeal

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The plan for a state constitutional convention for the elimination of the 1849 constitution and the adoption of a wholly new document of fundamental state law can be written off with respect to its prospects in the current Legislature.

Wyngaard

The indecisive attitude of the Democratic Party about the plan so eagerly championed by some Milwaukee interests is at least as important, moreover, in the indifferent outlook for the proposal as is the actively hostile viewpoint of most Republicans including the Republican state organization and the Republican leadership in both legislative houses.

Once it appeared that the Democrats were persuaded that the constitutional convention issue might be a reasonably popular theme for campaign purposes, but that has been pretty well discouraged. The recent Democratic state convention position on the question was equivocal, at best. Some of the most influential and most successful—in terms of assessing the temper of the electorate—Democrats holding high office are opposed to the plan. There has been very little showing of popular interest in a convention, while some of the influential public leaders of the state are openly skeptical or suspicious about the motives of the convention advocates.

A MEASURE

The quarrel about the need for a convention to scuttle the old and to write a new constitution is perhaps a test of a definition sometimes used to identify liberal and conservative attitudes.

It is fair to characterize the argument of the backers of a convention as holding that the constitution must be rewritten because it is old.

In general, the skeptics and the opponents hold that the constitution should not be junked merely because it is something more than a century since it was composed. For one thing, the U.S. Constitution is considerably more venerable and there is no serious proposal anywhere that it should be thrown out on that account. There is an amendment process for the national constitution that has been used repeatedly. There is an amendment process for the state constitution that has been used even more frequently. In fact it has been used regularly in recent times and is being employed today in a number of propositions moving toward popular ratification in a careful, deliberative way.

Constitutional convention opponents, it is said, are showing an unreasonable "fear" of change. There is some truth to that complaint. But a reply may be that the defenders of the separate amendment process are lacking proof that there is need for such a radical approach, or more precisely, that the machinery for careful, selective amendment has proved ineffectual.

ANOTHER FEAR

The defenders of the constitutional convention plan recite a list of defects in the present constitutional law, as they see them. Without exception they represent questions that have been introduced as amendments, some of them not yet resolved, some of them having been proposed and defeated. To the extent that the defeated proposals are used in the argument, the convention champions may be betraying their own "fear." It may be the fear that the legislative representatives, and the people at the ballot box, vote more carefully on single proposals fully argued, well-publicized, than they are likely to vote on a long list of laws contained in a generous package of verbiage that would not be so easily or so completely understood.

It is worth noting also that in general the most eager promoters of the convention idea are the young politicians with the least experience. Their elders are less eager to commit themselves.

Words Lose Meaning If They're Mangled

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Yesterday's column on pronunciation was the last I shall write on the subject for the summer, since I am already swamped with hundreds of letters in response to my previous columns on pronunciation.

These letters are, chiefly, divided into two sorts: those applauding the attempt to maintain a standard against the sloppy, blurred, and illiterate pronunciations of words; and those castigating me as a absurd in Oxford, and vice versa. All language is perpetually in flux.

On the other hand, must we not draw the line somewhere, if our language is not to degenerate into anarchy, idiosyncrasy, and indistinctness? Do we not require some standards of articulation that are commonly agreed upon? If we wholly give way to permissiveness in speech, then do we not lose more in precision and intelligibility than we gain in any other area?

It is noteworthy that even the readers who most violently objected to my lists of "preferred" pronunciations, nevertheless appended their own lists of mispronounced words they found offensive. Who, for instance, can tolerate "ladies and gentlemen," which is so often heard? Or "liberty" for "library," and "drowned" for "drained."

Everybody privately draws the line somewhere, with the feeling that some pronunciations are beyond the pale. My lists are not designed to set up a royal edict; rather, to encourage us to re-examine such words, and to recognize that some pronunciations have the sanction of tradition and pedigree, and others are gross corruptions.

Obscure Meaning

Pedigree is important, because it tells us where a word came from and what it means. It is wrong to elide the "gentle" in "gentlemen," for then we lose the original connotation of that word. And if "liberty" becomes the accepted usage, then it sounds like "strawberry" or "loganberry," and we have obscured the Latin root meaning "a collection of books."

Knowing the background of words helps us to define and use them accurately and forcefully. If, however, we mangle the pronunciation, they soon cease to resemble their progenitors, and we have lost a valuable clue to their true meaning. Words create enough mischief in the world already, without our adding to their demonic power by cutting them free from their ancestral roots.

Actually, I presume no such thing. I realize that there may be several equally acceptable ways to pronounce many words; that style and customs change in such matters; that what is "right" in Texas is

The Trapped Generation — 8

Why Men, Wives Part After Half a Life Together

BY THELMA C. PURTELL

Recently, a California psychotherapist, Dr. George Bach, has started seminars to teach married couples how to fight.

We seriously doubt if any relationship, let alone that any marriage can stand up under constructive fighting. The more civilized the discussions, the less furious the recriminations, the closer the marriage is to those well-known rocks.

A woman's first impulse is still to cry, or pout. When a man demands that she be reasonable, he is asking her to step out of her true role, and he will be the one to suffer most in the long run.

Custom and religion aside, there is no reason in the world why a husband and wife should not go their separate ways after 20 or 25 years of marriage, so long as that is what they both want.

Why Separate?
But why do such men and women decide to part? For one thing, there is the obvious reason that they feel they have fulfilled that obligation to society.

It is not surprising that most of the disagreements in marriage stem from money. Marriage is an institution based on property. We expect too much of money, as we do of love or a quick prayer.

Another part answer is that men and woman panic because they see old age around the corner and their last chance at what they consider happiness getting slimmer each day. But it cannot be as simple as that.

Every separation reflects tensions that have been sustained for many years, possibly without the open knowledge of the people concerned.

Don't Rush Into Divorce
The real tragedy of divorce at this time is that it is often the result of a compulsive drive for immediate action. The more staid and reputable the victims, and the more effort, possibly, that they have put into maintaining the facade, the greater the need for urgency that seems to overwhelm them.

It is too easy to separate in haste, and repent for the rest of a lifetime.

It may be better to take the step to divorce, however, than to settle for the lazy way out, staying together with all difficulties unresolved because one or both of them are afraid to face up to the facts or even because of the fear of being left alone. There are worse things than being alone by one's self. One of them is being alone with another person.

Remaining together does not insure happiness for the children. Everyone has only so much emotion, so much energy to spend. If it is spent struggling through the morasses of what is called emotional divorce, with two people living together in a state of continual feuding, or coldness, or actual hatred, the climate is not any healthier than it is when you have two countries existing side by side, waiting for the day when the other will somehow destroy itself.

Naturally, the longer two people are able to maintain the semblance of unity for their children the better. But children do not seem to be the sensitive little plants they have long been supposed to be. The presence of the two parents, the ability to speak pleasantly about family affairs and outside interests at the dinner table or on family excursions; an effort to keep actual quarreling at a minimum, especially to keep voices from being too loud and hurtful, will satisfy most children.

Freedom Can Be Tiring
No reputable counselor, including those of the Catholic church, will advise that two people live together if there is actual abuse, or conduct which might imperil the well-being of the child. The church, of course, countenances only separation. Since the first consideration in

South African Drought Nears Disaster Stage

Three-to-Four Year Shortage Felt Most In Bechuanaland

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The effects of prolonged drought over large areas of southern Africa are fast approaching disaster proportions, according to scattered reports reaching Johannesburg. Bechuanaland, a Texas-sized country to the north of South Africa, is worst hit. Reports from the capital, Gaborone, say the government is nearing the end of its resources in its efforts to avoid a national tragedy following three to four years of severe drought — up to seven years in some parts.

Crash Program
It has launched a crash program to combat triple assaults by even worse drought, famine and disease expected to hit the country during July. The worst miles an hour and probably could be brought down by a well-flung rock.

No official figures are obtainable on how many persons have died of starvation. Government officials report that in some areas people can no longer walk.

It is feared that cattle losses will be more than 250,000 head during the next few months. Bechuanaland is almost entirely dependent on cattle ranching for its livelihood.

Bird Doggers Fly Low To Point Enemy Targets

BY MAL BOYLE

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — Once they screamed through the skies at speeds of better than 1,000 miles an hour.

Now they wheel and circle over the enemy in small, vulnerable planes that travel less than a tenth that fast. They are "the bird dogs," a group of ex-jet pilots who act as forward air controllers for the American and Vietnamese air forces. "Our job is pretty much like that of a bird dog," said Lt. Col. William M. Edwards, 43, of Los Angeles, Calif., who heads the air support operations center for the 1st Corps here.

"We fly down and mark the enemy targets, and then call in our fighters on them." It is dangerous and exhilarating work. Their vehicle is a small, unarmored L19 observation plane that cruises at 90 miles an hour and probably could be brought down by a well-flung rock.

The combat function is crucial. Each plane carries an American pilot and a Vietnamese observer. They serve as the vital link between ground observers and the attack planes. The "bird dogs" are supposed to stay above 1,000 feet for safety's sake, but for the sake of accuracy they often come down to tree-top level.

"Our biggest problem is to tell the friendly forces the unfriendly," said Edwards, a chunky, red-haired former F100 pilot who has four sons.

"That's the reason we need to have a Vietnamese observer along." Each "bird dog" plane carries four white phosphorus markers and seven white phosphorus grenades to pinpoint the target. They feel they've had a bad day if they miss it by more than 100 feet. Usually they hit on the nose. In the recent bloody battle of Quang Ngai south of here, they helped direct some 700 aerial sorties around the clock over a seven-day period.

Biggest Action
"This was the biggest aerial action of its kind in the war thus far," said Edwards. "It was also the first time jet aircraft were used at night for close air support over here. They turned the tide."

Some of the "bird dogs" flew up to 19 missions during that week. They were so weary that they slept under the wings of their planes. The 14 pilots range in age from 24 to 45. The oldest Lt. Col. Ellis E. Bruch of Cherryvale, Kan., formerly flew B57 jet bombers. He has two children. He has flown 230 missions since the first of the year.

"As jet flyers, most of us were a little apprehensive about the slow speed of our bird dog planes," said Edwards. "But everything has worked out fine."

All Volunteers

Some of the pilots would rather be back flying jets, but every man of them at one time or other raised his hand when volunteers for this job were called for.

Edwards minimized the peril involved although the Viet Cong hate these little snooper aircraft and try at every opportunity to shoot them down.

"It's really not so bad except when low ceilings force us to come down lower than we'd like to," he said. "Then they open up on us with rifles and 30-caliber machine guns. One of our planes came back with 14 holes in it. The other day of our planes disappeared. We don't know whether they were shot down or not. They just disappeared in thick jungle."

"We've had four men wounded."

Asked how many of his planes had escaped being hit Edwards thought a moment then replied:

"I know of only one for sure. It's a new plane. We just got it in today."
